Mario Savio and the Radical Legacy of the 1960s

A black and white photograph of Mario Savio, a prominent figure in the 1960s civil rights movement. He is shown from the chest up, wearing a light-colored jacket over a dark shirt. He is holding a microphone in his right hand and speaking with an intense expression. The background features a large, classical building with prominent columns and a pediment, likely the University of California, Berkeley, where the Free Speech Movement took place. The overall tone of the image is historical and documentary.
