

BASSENGE

A detailed still life painting on a dark background. In the center, two large, light pink flowers with many petals are in full bloom. Above them are several green leaves, some of which are heavily damaged with large brown holes. To the left, a cluster of small, delicate blue flowers is visible. In the bottom right corner, a butterfly with red and black wings and white spots is shown. A small ladybug is also visible on a dark, rounded object in the lower left. The overall composition is rich and detailed, typical of 17th-century still life art.
