producing knowledge that will promote social justice Experiments in Skin Thuy Linh Nguyen Tu, 2021-02-22 In Experiments in Skin Thuy Linh Nguyen Tu examines the ongoing influence of the Vietnam War on contemporary ideas about race and beauty Framing skin as the site around which these ideas have been formed Tu foregrounds the histories of militarism in the production of US biomedical knowledge and commercial cosmetics She uncovers the efforts of wartime scientists in the US Military Dermatology Research Program to alleviate the environmental and chemical risks to soldiers skin These dermatologists sought relief for white soldiers while denying that African American soldiers and Vietnamese civilians were also vulnerable to harm Their experiments led to the development of pharmaceutical cosmetics now used by women in Ho Chi Minh City to tend to their skin and to grapple with the damage caused by the war's lingering toxicity In showing how the US military laid the foundations for contemporary Vietnamese consumption of cosmetics and practices of beauty Tu shows how the intersecting histories of militarism biomedicine race and aesthetics become materially and metaphorically visible on skin Urbanization in Vietnam Gisele Bousquet, 2015-09-16 Most studies on urbanisation focus on the move of rural people to cities and the impact this has both on the cities to which the people have moved and on the rural communities they have left This book on the other hand considers the impact on rural communities of the physical expansion of cities Based on extensive original research over a long period in one settlement a rural commune which over the course of the last two decades has become engulfed by Hanoi's urban spread the book explores what happens when village people become urbanites or city dwellers when agriculture is abandoned population density rises the value of land increases people have to make a living in the city and the dynamics of family life including gender relations are profoundly altered This book charts these developments over time and sets urbanisation in Vietnam in the wider context of urbanisation in Southeast Asia and Asia more generally Vietnam's Socialist Servants Minh T. N. Nguyen, 2014-08-27 Since Vietnam introduced economic reforms in the mid 1980s domestic service has become an established sector of the labour market and domestic workers have become indispensable to urban life in the rapidly changing country This book analyzes the ways in which the practices and discourses of domestic service serve to forge and contest emerging class identities in post reform Vietnam Drawing on a rich and diverse range of qualitative data including ethnographies interviews and narratives it shows that such practices and discourses are rooted in cultural notions of gender and rural urban difference and enduring socialist structures of feeling which in turn clash with the realities of growing differentiation Domestic workers' experiences reveal negotiations with class boundaries actively set by the urban middle class who seek distinction through emerging notions and practices of domesticity These boundaries are nevertheless riddled with gender and class anxiety on the side of the latter partly because of the very struggles and contestations of the domestic workers More broadly Minh T N Nguyen links the often invisible intimate dynamics of class formation in the domestic sphere with wider political economic processes in a post socialist country embarking on marketization while retaining the political control of a party state As a pioneering ethnographic study of domestic service in Vietnam today this book will be of great interest to students and scholars of Southeast Asian culture society social anthropology gender studies human geography and development studies
