Gendered Fields Rural Women Agriculture And Environment Rural Studies Series:

Gendered Fields Carolyn E Sachs, 2018-02-20 This book aims to expand feminist theory to include the study of rural women while recognizing that many rural women no longer depend exclusively on agriculture or the land for their livelihoods. It emphasizes the depth and value of women's knowledge with the natural environment. Gender, Power and Politics in Agriculture Jemimah Njuki, Hale Ann Tufan, Vivian Polar, Hugo Campos, Monifa Morgan-Bell, 2024-10-07 This is an open access book. In the agriculture sector, the language of gender integration often ignores the politics and the power dynamics that are central to critical and feminist analysis of gender relations. This volume explores largely neglected topics such as power dynamics, masculinities, gendered social norms, feminist research practice, intersectionality, critical analysis of tools, and more that are fundamental to shifting the entrenched power dynamics and politics of gender research in agriculture. The purpose of this book is to reduce the gap existing between theory, methods, and practice of gender relations in agriculture and agricultural research. Through an in-depth analysis of current processes in agriculture and drawing on existing experiences in other sectors, it seeks to create pathways for learning, catalyzing change, and positive impact on gender equity and social inclusion. This volume seeks to bring forth a change in how gender relations in agriculture are researched, practiced, and taught.

Women's Studies Linda Krikos, Cindy Ingold, 2004-08-30 This truly monumental work maps the literature of women's studies covering thousands of titles and Web sites in 19 subject areas published between 1985 and 1999. Intended as a reference and collection development tool, this bibliography provides a guide for women's studies information for each title along with a detailed, often evaluative review. The annotations summarize each work's content, its importance, or contribution to women's studies and its relationship to other titles on the subject. Core titles and titles that are out of print are noted, and reviews indicate which titles are appropriate as texts or supplemental texts. This definitive guide to the literature of women's studies is a must purchase for academic libraries that support women's studies programs, and it is a useful addition to any academic or public library that endeavors to represent the field. A team of subject specialists has taken on the immense task of documenting publications in the area of women's studies in the last decades of the 20th century. The result is this truly monumental work which maps the field covering thousands of titles and Web sites in 19 subject areas published between 1985 and 1999. Intended as a reference and collection development tool, this bibliography provides a guide for women's studies information for each title along with a detailed, often evaluative review. The annotations summarize each work's content, its importance, or contribution to women's studies and its relationship to other titles on the subject. Most reviews cite and describe similar and contrasting titles, substantially extending the coverage. Core titles and titles that are out of print are noted, and reviews indicate which titles are appropriate as texts or supplemental texts. Taking up where the previous volume by Loeb Searing and Stineman left off, this is the definitive guide to the literature of women's studies. It is a must purchase for academic libraries that support women's studies programs and a welcome addition to any academic or public library that endeavors to represent the field The gender box: A framework for analysing gender roles in forest management Carol J Pierce Colfer, 2013-01-23 Recognising widespread uncertainty about how to address gender within the forestry world from researchers as well as natural resource development and conservation practitioners this paper strives to provide targeted guidance We divide gender methods into three main approaches based on the availability of resources In the first section we provide a brief discussion of theory and method Then after discussing some all purpose methods we classify methods loosely into categories of quick and more or less dirty systematic academic studies and collaborative studies We argue that although there is legitimate space for all three approaches the last is the most likely to result in long term and meaningful improvements in forests and human well being

Advancing gender equality through agricultural and environmental research: Past, present, and future Pyburn, Rhiannon, ed., van Eerdewijk, Anouka, ed., 2021-11-02 Over the past decade interest in gender equality and women's empowerment has grown rapidly creating a unique opportunity to institutionalize gender research within agricultural research for development This book edited by researchers from the CGIAR Gender Platform reviews and reflects on the growing body of evidence from gender research It marks a shift a way from a traditional focus on how gender analysis can contribute to improved productivity flipping the question to ask How does agricultural and environmental research and development contribute to gender equality and women's empowerment Chapters synthesize the wide range of CGIAR and other research in this area covering breeding research and seed systems value chain participation nutrition sensitive agriculture natural resources climate adaptation and mitigation the feminization of agriculture women's role in agricultural research and emerging gender transformative approaches

Gender, Environment and Sustainable Development Shweta Prasad, 2023-12-08 This book studies environment and sustainable development from the perspective of gender It focuses on three major themes including sustainability of development practices policy perspectives on environmental management and climate change and its gendered impact It includes contributions from academicians working across disciplines and practitioners working at the grassroots levels The book addresses issues facing India amid a growing global environmental crisis and suggests policy measures for environmental protection and to improve the quality of life of its inhabitants Lucid and topical the volume will be an indispensable resource for students researchers of gender environment and sustainable development sociology and public policy It will also be a great resource for advocacy groups non governmental organisations NGOs and policymakers working in the area

Routledge International Handbook of Rural Studies Mark Shucksmith, David L. Brown, 2016-05-20 Rural societies around the world are changing in fundamental ways both at their own initiative and in response to external forces The Routledge International Handbook of Rural Studies examines the organisation and transformation of rural society in more developed regions of the world taking an interdisciplinary and problem focused approach Written by leading social scientists from many countries it addresses emerging issues and challenges in innovative and provocative ways to inform future policy This volume is organised around eight emerging social economic and environmental challenges Demographic change Economic transformations Food systems and land Environment and resources Changing configurations of gender and rural society Social and economic equality Social dynamics and institutional capacity Power and governance Cross cutting these challenges are the growing interdependence of rural and urban the rise in inequality within and between places the impact of fiscal crisis on rural societies neoliberalism power and agency and rural areas as potential sites of resistance The Routledge International Handbook of Rural Studies is required reading for anyone concerned with the future of rural areas Rural Gender Relations Bettina Barbara Bock,S. Shortall,2006 This exciting new book brings together renowned international scholars to explore the gender effects of the current transformation of agriculture and rural life It presents a comparative perspective on key research themes of rural gender relations with each section beginning with a comprehensive overview Five themes are addressed developments in rural gender theory and research methodology changes in farm households patterns of rural migration the impact of national and international policies and the construction of gender identities as a result of rural changes Contributors include scholars from Europe North America South Africa Australia and New Zealand Routledge Handbook of Gender and Agriculture Carolyn E. Sachs,Leif Jensen,Paige Castellanos,Kathleen Sexsmith,2020-10-28 The Routledge Handbook of Gender and Agriculture covers major theoretical issues as well as critical empirical shifts in gender and agriculture Gender relations in agriculture are shifting in most regions of the world with changes in the structure of agriculture the organization of production international restructuring of value chains climate change the global pandemic and national and multinational policy changes This book provides a cutting edge assessment of the field of gender and agriculture with contributions from both leading scholars and up and coming academics as well as policymakers and practitioners The handbook is organized into four parts part 1 institutions markets and policies part 2 land labor and agrarian transformations part 3 knowledge methods and access to information and part 4 farming people and identities The last chapter is an epilogue from many of the contributors focusing on gender agriculture and shifting food systems during the coronavirus pandemic The chapters address both historical subjects as well as ground breaking work on gender and agriculture which will help to chart the future of the field The handbook has an international focus with contributions examining issues at both the global and local levels with contributors from across the world With contributions from leading academics policymakers and practitioners and with a global outlook the Routledge Handbook of Gender and Agriculture is an essential reference volume for scholars students and practitioners interested in gender and agriculture Chapter 13 of this book is freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license Taking Stands Maureen Gail Reed,2003 Environmental activism in rural places frequently pits residents whose livelihood depends on resource extraction against those who seek to protect natural spaces and species While many studies have focused on women who seek to protect the natural environment few have explored the perspectives of women who seek to maintain resource use This book goes beyond the dichotomies of pro and anti environmentalism to tell the stories of these women Maureen Reed uses participatory action research to explain the experiences of women who seek to protect forestry as an industry a livelihood a community and a culture She links their experiences to policy making by considering the effects of environmental policy changes on the social dynamics of workplaces households and communities in forestry towns of British Columbia s temperate rainforest The result is a critical commentary about the social dimensions of sustainability in rural communities A powerful and challenging book Taking Stands provides a crucial understanding of community change in resource dependent regions and helps us to better tackle the complexities of gender and activism as they relate to rural sustainability Social and environmental geographers feminist scholars and those engaged in rural studies environmental sustainability and community planning will find it invaluable

We Just Keep Running the Line LaGuana Gray, 2014-11-05 The poultry processing industry in El Dorado Arkansas was an economic powerhouse in the latter half of the twentieth century It was the largest employer in the interconnected region of South Arkansas and North Louisiana surrounding El Dorado and the fates of many related companies and farms depended on its continued financial success We Just Keep Running the Line is the story of the rise of the poultry processing industry in El Dorado and the labor force composed primarily of black women upon which it came to rely At a time when agricultural jobs were in decline and Louisiana stood at the forefront of rising anti welfare sentiment much of the work available in the area went to men driving women into less attractive labor intensive jobs LaGuana Gray argues that the justification for placing African American women in the lowest paying and most dangerous of these jobs like poultry processing derives from longstanding mischaracterizations of black women by those in power In evaluating the perception of black women as less than white women less feminine less moral less deserving of social assistance and less invested in their families and communities well being Gray illuminates the often exploitative nature of southern labor the growth of the agribusiness model of food production and the role of women of color in such food industries Using collected oral histories to allow marginalized women of color to tell their own stories and to contest and reshape narratives commonly used against them We Just Keep Running the Line explores the physical and psychological toll this work took on black women analyzing their survival strategies and their fight to retain their humanity in an exploitative industry

Gardening the World Veronica Strang, 2009 Around the world intensifying development and human demands for fresh water are placing unsustainable pressures on finite resources Countries are waging war over transboundary rivers and rural and urban communities are increasingly divided as irrigation demands compete with domestic desires Marginal groups are losing access to water as powerful elites protect their own interests and entire ecosystems are being severely degraded These problems are particularly evident in Australia with its industrialised economy and arid climate Yet there have been relatively few attempts to examine the social and cultural complexities that underlie people s engagements with water Based on long term ethnographic fieldwork in two major Australian river catchments the Mitchell River in Cape York and the Brisbane River in southeast Queensland this book examines their major water using and managing groups indigenous communities farmers industries recreational and domestic water users and environmental organisations It explores the issues that shape their different beliefs values and practices in relation to water and considers the specifically cultural or sub cultural meanings that they encode in their material surroundings Through an analysis of each group s diverse efforts to garden the world it provides insights into the complexities of human environmental relationships

Encompassing Gender Mary M. Lay, Janice J. Monk, Deborah Rosenfelt, 2002 From Beijing to Seattle women s movements within academe and in local global communities are growing at an unprecedented rate raising pointed questions about paradigms of Western feminism development global trade and scholarship Despite this growing visibility the perspectives of far too many women especially from the Global South are still excluded from mainstream U S scholarship Presented with the task of preparing students for life in this new and rapidly shrinking world many scholars have found themselves overwhelmed by the need to cross disciplinary and geographic borders But some faculty are leading the way often in defiance of academic traditions and prejudices to a curriculum that reflects consequences of globalization Encompassing Gender is the long awaited anthology of more than 40 essays by 60 scholars many of them working in curriculum transformation groups that cut across the humanities the sciences and the social sciences all of them committed to an interdisciplinary approach to internationalizing the curriculum

Vietnam's Women in Transition Kathleen Barry, 2016-07-27 Women experiencing the dynamic changes of rapid industrialization in the Vietnam of today in the family the factory the farm and the state from Hanoi to Ho Chi Minh City are the focus of this book Here the latest Vietnamese research and policy on women and the family are in dialogue with US feminist theory research and analysis providing a multi disciplinary approach to women s labour health and fertility rural development violence against women and women s historical and political status at a critical moment of economic and social change

Seeking Home Leslie Harper Worthington, Jürgen Grandt, 2024-01-12 Appalachian people are frequently depicted as poorly educated whites who isolate themselves in mountain hollows In Seeking Home editors Leslie Harper Worthington and Jürgen E Grandt turn that stereotype upside down by showcasing Appalachia s ethnic diversity through a lively collection of essays discussing fiction poetry letters and songs This distinct collection begins with a personal narrative in which Worthington relates how she discovered her own home through teaching Lee Smith s Fair and Tender Ladies Other essays range from the anticipated Ron Rash Barbara Kingsolver Harriette Simpson Arnow to the unanticipated Charles Frazier s magical realism a Confederate soldier s journals and three different examinations of Appalachian poets Adding further texture to the collection are essays examining the diversity in Appalachian music including Cherokee song and dance a discussion of Appalachian mining songs and an examination of recording technology and authenticity Seeking Home confirms that just as there are many Souths there are also many Appalachias The region is multifaceted multicultural and all

we have to do is be willing to examine the variety
