Genealogies of Genius Joyce E. Chaplin, Darrin M. McMahon, 2015-12-08 The essays in this volume seek to examine the uses to which concepts of genius have been put in different cultures and times Collectively they are designed to make two new statements First seen in historical and comparative perspective genius is not a natural fact and universal human constant that has been only recently identified by modern science but instead a categorical mode of assessing human ability and merit Second as a concept with specific definitions and resonances genius has performed specific cultural work within each of the societies in which it had a historical presence

Reckoning with Slavery Jennifer L. Morgan, 2021-04-26 In Reckoning with Slavery Jennifer L. Morgan draws on the lived experiences of enslaved African women in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries to reveal the contours of early modern notions of trade race and commodification in the Black Atlantic From capture to transport to sale to childbirth these women were demographically counted as commodities during the Middle Passage vulnerable to rape separated from their kin at slave markets and subject to laws that enslaved their children upon birth In this way they were central to the binding of reproductive labor with kinship racial hierarchy and the economics of slavery Throughout this groundbreaking study Morgan demonstrates that the development of Western notions of value and race occurred simultaneously In so doing she illustrates how racial capitalism denied the enslaved their kinship and affective ties while simultaneously relying on kinship to reproduce and enforce slavery through enslaved female bodies

Memory and Religion from a Postsecular Perspective Zuzanna Bogumił, Yuliya Yurchuk, 2022-02-27 The book argues that religion is a system of significant meanings that have an impact on other systems and spheres of social life including cultural memory The editors call for a postsecular turn in memory studies which would provide a more reflective and meaningful approach to the constant interplay between the religious and the secular This opens up new perspectives on the intersection of memory and religion and helps memory scholars become more aware of the religious roots of the language they are using in their studies of memory By drawing on examples from different parts of the world the contributors to this volume explain how the interactions between the religious and the secular produce new memory forms and content in the heterogeneous societies of the present day world These analyzed cases demonstrate that religion has a significant impact on cultural memory family memory and the contemporary politics of history in secularized societies At the same time politics grassroots movements and different secular agents and processes have so much influence on the formation of memory by religious actors that even religious ecclesiastic and confessional memories are affected by the secular This volume is ideal for students and scholars of memory studies religious studies and history

International Law, Necropolitics, and Arab Lives Khaled Al-Kassimi, 2022-10-27 International Relations and International Law continue to be accented by epistemic violence by naturalizing a separation between law and morality What does such positivist juridical ethos make possible when considering that both disciplines reify a secular immanent ontology International Law Necropolitics and Arab Lives emphasizes that positivist jurisprudence re-conquered Arabia by subjugating Arab life to the power of death using extrajudicial techniques of violence seeking the implementation of a New Middle East that is no longer resistant to Latin European modernity but amenable to such exclusionary telos The monograph goes beyond the limited remonstrance asserting that the problem with both disciplines is that they are primarily Eurocentric Rather the epistemic inquiry uncovers that legalizing necropower is necessary for the temporal coherence of secular modernity since a humanitarian logic masks sovereignty inherently being necropolitical by categorizing Arab Islamic epistemology as an internal external enemy from which nationalist citizenship must be defended This creates a sense of danger around which to unite modern epistemology whilst reinforcing the purity of a particular ontology at the expense of banning and dehumanizing a supposed impure Arab refugee This book will be of interest to graduate students scholars and finally practitioners of international relations political theory philosophical theology and legal theory

Buddhism and Cultural Studies Edwin Ng, 2016-06-30 This book explores the reciprocity between Buddhist, Derridean, and Foucauldian understandings about ethics, subjectivity, and ontological contingency to investigate the ethical and political potential of insight meditation practice. The book is narrated from the perspective of a postcolonial Western Buddhist convert who, despite growing up in Singapore where Buddhism was a part of his diasporic Chinese ancestral heritage, only embraced Buddhism when he migrated to Australia and discovered Western translations of Buddhist teachings. Through an autoethnography of the author's Buddhist-inspired pursuit of an academic profession, the book develops and professes a non-doctrinal understanding of faith that may be pertinent to believers and non-believers alike, inviting the academic reader in particular to consider the unacknowledged role of faith in supporting scholarly practice. Striking a careful balance between critical analysis and self-reflexive inquiry, the book performs in all senses of the word a profession of faith.
