Literature for Young Adults Joan L. Knickerbocker, 2017-03-15 Young adults are actively looking for anything that connects them with the changes happening in their lives and the books discussed throughout Literature for Young Adults have the potential to make that connection and motivate them to read It explores a great variety of works genres and formats but it places special emphasis on contemporary works whose nontraditional themes protagonists and literary conventions make them well suited to young adult readers It also looks at the ways in which contemporary readers access and share the works they're reading and it shows teachers ways to incorporate nontraditional ways of accessing and sharing books throughout their literature programs In addition to traditional genre chapters Literature for Young Adults includes chapters on literary nonfiction poetry short stories and drama cover art picture books illustrated literature and graphic novels and film It recognizes that while films can be used to complement print literature they are also a literacy format in their own right and one that young adults are particularly familiar and comfortable with The book's discussion of literary language including traditional elements as well as metafictional terms enables readers to share in a literary conversation with their students and others when communicating about books. It will help readers teach young adults the language they need to articulate their responses to the books they are reading.

Authorship's Wake Philip Sayers, 2020-12-10 Authorship's Wake examines the aftermath of the 1960s critique of the author epitomized by Roland Barthes's essay The Death of the Author. This critique has given rise to a body of writing that confounds generic distinctions separating the literary and the theoretical. Its archive consists of texts by writers who either directly participated in this critique as Barthes did or whose intellectual formation took place in its immediate aftermath. These writers include some who are known primarily as theorists (Judith Butler) others known primarily as novelists (Zadie Smith, David Foster Wallace) and yet others whose texts are difficult to categorize (the autofiction of Chris Kraus, Sheila Heti and Ben Lerner, the autotheory of Maggie Nelson). These writers share not only a central motivating question (how to move beyond the critique of the author subject) but also a way of answering it (by writing texts that merge theoretical concerns with literary discourse). Authorship's Wake traces the responses their work offers in relation to four themes: communication, intention, agency and labor.

Criminalisation of Dissent in Times of Crisis Anna Di Ronco, Rossella Selmini, 2024-12-26 This book provides a wide-ranging global exploration of policies and practices which have sought to undermine dissent during recent and less recent social, political, economic and health crises. Examining various cases of activism and opposition from both the Global North and the Global South and drawing on multi-disciplinary insights, this book analyses the many ways in which state and non-state actors have targeted dissent, activism and protest, including by vulnerable groups. This includes strategies that have silenced dissenting opinions, restricted the right to protest, intensified policing practices and the surveillance of activists, imposed onerous administrative fines, criminalised and prosecuted dissenters and even killed activists. Fundamentally, this volume considers criminalisation as a process that develops on a continuum of control and repressive practices that aim to undermine dissent. It contributes to the broader discussion on criminalisation processes, policing the rule of law and the quality of our democracies.

The Ashgate Research Companion to Popular Musicology Derek B.
