Gender Dynamicsdevelopment And Peace Studies Perspectives:

Gender Dynamics:Development and Peace Studies Perspectives Maxwell Constantine Chando Musingafi,Emmanuel Dumbu,Owence Chabaya,2013-06-12 The major aims of this book are to Provide an introduction to the study of gender in social sciences for students with little or no previous social science education The text is designed to serve both as a comprehensive introduction to the field and as a starting point for further and more advanced study Enable readers to translate gender and development theory and concepts into practice Stimulate debate by encouraging readers to adopt a challenging questioning perspective on gender research and ideas This book is intended for classroom and workshop use in the fields of development management public governance and gender and development Study questions activities and case studies are included The book is designed for both undergraduate and seasoned professional or postgraduate studies It can be used in both formal and nonformal educational settings This text is thus written from a multidisciplinary social science perspective While there may be other forms of socio economic disparity in society like race in Rhodesia and apartheid South Africa gender inequality is more pervasive than other forms of inequality Thus understanding the causes and consequences of gender inequality should be of concern to all societies in the world rich as well as poor Gender inequality is pervasive across different groups within societies Within a society the forms taken by gender inequality may vary across different strata though its effects are more pronounced among the poor Consequently gender inequality intersects with economic deprivation to produce more intensified forms of poverty for women than men Gender inequality structures the relations of production and reproduction in different societies Men play a critical role in earning household livelihoods in much of the world but generally play a negligible role in the unpaid work of reproduction in the domestic arena Women on the other hand play a critical role in the unpaid work of caring for the family As such women and men experience poverty differently and unequally and become poor through different though related processes Poverty and gender inequalities therefore have to be tackled at the societal level as well as through explicit interventions tailored to addressing specific forms of disadvantage Culture is often used to justify inequality or to act as a constraint to equality But culture is a living thing created by people and therefore changed by people Throughout the centuries it has always adapted to changes in human beliefs and ways of being Therefore as women and men push for more opportunities and choices for themselves their children and their elders their culture will adapt accordingly While it is important to view the complementary and interdependent nature of gender roles it is also important to challenge those stereotypes and attitudes that keep people in low status and prevent them from reaching their full potential In other words women and men have to build respect for each other s roles and goals in life share resources and decision making and demonstrate mutual support for gender equality to become a reality

Development Perspectives from the South Mawere, Munyaradzi,2016-12-14 Not so long ago The Economist described Africa as a hopeless continent This damning description specifically referred to the development status of Africa While the debate on the political and socio economic under development of Africa had been raging on prior to the Economist s daring but controversial pronouncements it intensified from thereon Many concerned people from within the continent and elsewhere have reproofed the proclamation but mainly in newspapers and the broadcast media Not enough has been done by development scholars to critically reflect on the description and status of Africa s development condition in a nuanced and systematic fashion Yet it is through incisive reflections and systematic engagements with Africa s situations and circumstances that directions and solutions to the African development predicament could be forged The present volume is an attempt to open up a constructive dialogue between the Global North and the Global South on the African under development conundrum The book is an eye opener to African governments social scientists policy makers and development scholars concerned with the urgent need to rethink reimagine and retheorise Africa s development gridlock Women

Empowerment and the Feminist Agenda in Africa Musingafi, Maxwell Constantine Chando, Hungwe, Chipso, 2023-10-24

This book argues that African women s lived experiences are often spoken about authoritatively by people who are not included within this demographic relegating these women to the role of spectators in their own stories The dominant narratives of African womanhood legitimized by intellectual discourse are neither written by African women nor Africans in general This book seeks to place feminism in Africa into its historical context by revisiting the experiences practices vision and theories of feminism and gender in Africa It is intended to serve as a comprehensive introduction to the field and provide a starting point for further and more advanced study of the nexus of feminism gender and development in Africa Women Empowerment and the Feminist Agenda in Africa is designed to initiate post graduate research and studies in the social sciences for directed and critical inquiry into the nature of feminist and gender politics and power relations in Africa It is written for researchers academics and advanced tertiary studies although professional gender and feminist organizations especially those in Africa or focusing on Africa will also find a wealth of information The book is recommended for university libraries post graduate students and staff the non governmental community in Africa women movement organizations in Africa independent researchers and academics and the African community at large Theorising Development in Africa

Munyaradzi Mawere, 2017-12-17 How come Africa is so underdeveloped when it is one of the richest continents on earth Indeed Africa is a paradox it is poor and rich at the same time Resource wise Africa is among the top richest continents in the world yet development wise it is the poorest of all continents This paradox desperately needs comprehensive theoretical unpacking and rethinking if Africa is to achieve breakthroughs to the multifaceted development related problems that have haunted it since the beginning of its unequal encounters with Europe Regrettably current Eurocentric development theories fall short on several fronts The need for a comprehensive body of knowledge theories and models from the perspective of Africans persists in urgency The present volume is an attempt to theorise Africas under development with a view to provide a sustainable enduring framework of operations that will arrest the elusive predicament of the continent while taking it forward from its current position of passivity It rethinks and re imagines a number of externally imposed problematic mechanisms used unconsciously in Africa with the intention to raise awareness and foster critical thinking in scholars and scholarship on African development With its predicament oriented theorising the book is a pacesetter on how to think and research Africa's under development It is also an invaluable asset for social scientists policy makers development practitioners civil society activists and politicians

Philosophising Experiences and Vision of the Female Body, Mind, and Soul: Historical Context and Contemporary Theory Musingafi, Maxwell Constantine Chando, Mafumbate, Racheal, Khumalo, Thandi Fredah, 2021-04-23 Much of our understanding of the world our societies and ourselves rests on theories and knowledge generated predominantly by men of certain nationalities and economic classes This male dominated and culturally specific theorizing and knowledge have generally resulted in the exclusion of women and other groups from the process of formal theorizing and knowledge building Feminism argues that the male dominated knowledge represents a skewed perception of reality and is only partial knowledge Feminism is a generalized wide ranging system of ideas about social life and human experience developed from a woman centered perspective It treats women as the central subjects in the investigative process and seeks to see the world from the distinctive vantage points of women in the social world The best way to empower women and better the situation for women is to take women's daily experiences and their informal theorizing into account and on this basis adopt feminist approaches to building theory and knowledge

Philosophising Experiences and Vision of the Female Body Mind and Soul Historical Context and Contemporary Theory provides an overview and introduction to the study of feminist theory and practice in the social sciences This book provides a starting point for further and more advanced study of the nexus of feminism gender and development and translates feminist theory and concepts into practice The chapters investigate in a historical context mainstream and contemporary theories of feminism and gender studies This book is ideal for post graduate students of social science researchers of development management business management public governance and gender and development activists feminists and practitioners stakeholders researchers academicians and students interested in feminist theory and knowledge building

McDonald, Cathy van Ingen, 2020-06-04 Transnational organizations and practitioners who use sport for international development often position sport as a unique option for tackling development challenges While sport can be a tool for social change the authors in this collection bring a critical eye to this assumption and offer new perspectives on the use of sport for development and peace SDP in local and global contexts The book seeks to generate new dialogues and explore linkages for development and SDP researchers through considerations of sport s potential to challenge and or perpetuate key global issues and problems These analyses consider the SDP work done on the ground and interrogate the historical social and political circumstances of these practices The authors explore how best to examine theorize critique and potentially improve local SDP initiatives This book will be of great interest to students and researchers of both Development Studies and Sport It was originally published as a special issue of the online journal Third World Thematics Gender Dynamics in Transboundary Water Governance Jenniver Sehring, Rozemarijn ter Horst, Margreet Zwarteveen, 2022-07-29 This volume assesses the nexus of gender and transboundary water governance containing empirical case studies discourse analyses practitioners accounts and theoretical reflections Transboundary water governance exists at the intersection of two highly masculinised fields diplomacy and water resources management In both fields positions are mainly held by men and core ideas norms and guiding principles that are presented as neutral are both shaped by men and based on male experiences This book sheds light on the often hidden gender dynamics of water conflict and cooperation at the transboundary level and on the implicit assumptions that guide research and policies The individual chapters of the book based on case studies from around the world reveal the gendered nature of water diplomacy take stock of the number of women involved in organisations that govern shared waters and analyse programmes that have been set up to promote women in water diplomacy and the obstacles that they face They explore and contest leading narratives and knowledge that have been shaped mainly by privileged men and assess how the participation of women concretely impacts the practices routines and processes of water negotiations This volume will be of great interest to students and scholars of water governance water diplomacy gender international relations and environmental politics It will also be of interest to professionals and policymakers involved in supporting gender mainstreaming in water cooperation The Open Access version of this book available at www.taylorfrancis.com has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license

Gender, UN Peacebuilding, and the Politics of Space Laura J. Shepherd, 2017 The United Nations Peacebuilding Commission UNPBC was established in December 2005 to develop outlines of best practice in post conflict reconstruction and to secure the political and material resources necessary to assist states in transition from conflict to peacetime Currently the organization is involved in reconstruction and peacebuilding activities in six countries Yet a 2010 review by permanent representatives to the United Nations found that the hopes of the UN peacebuilding architecture despite committed and dedicated efforts had yet to be realized Two of these hopes relate to gender and power specifically that peacebuilding efforts integrate a gender perspective and that the Commission consult with civil society NGOs and women's organizations This book is the first to offer an extensive and dedicated analysis of the activities of the UN Peacebuilding Commission with regard to both gender politics broadly conceived and the gendered dynamics of civil society participation in peacebuilding activities Laura J Shepherd draws upon original fieldwork that she conducted at the UN to argue that the gendered and spatial politics of peacebuilding not only feminizes civil society organizations but also perpetuates hierarchies that privilege the international over the domestic realms The book argues that the dominant representations of women gender and civil society in UN peacebuilding discourse produce spatial hierarchies that paradoxically undermine the contemporary emphasis on bottom up governance of peacebuilding activities
