

Hazardous Materials Request Form

Instructions:

This form is to be filled out for chemicals that are ordered for the "POST" phase by a Principal Investigator (if this is a transfer of an approved chemical to the same research lab, you don't need to re-evaluate. It is meant to ensure that all safety equipment, training infrastructure and regulatory requirements are in place prior to the chemical arriving on campus. It is not intended to prohibit the ordering of any chemical, but rather to ensure that the University and its employees are able to comply with all pertinent legislation regarding chemical use and acquisition. This form should be submitted for the purchase of research grade lab chemicals. Purchase of routine teaching lab chemicals and consumer quality chemicals like paints, cleaning products, automotive fluids, etc., does not require submission of this form.

Submit completed form to shachem@sjspurchasing.org or shachem@sjspurchasing.org

Reminder:

Only order the amount you need. We want to minimize the amount of hazardous waste generated by use of off-spec chemicals.

Chemistry Review Form 1and:

Reviews of Reactive Intermediate Chemistry Matthew S. Platz, Robert A. Moss, Maitland Jones, Jr., 2007-04-20 The chemistry of reactive intermediates is central to a modern mechanistic and quantitative understanding of organic chemistry. Moreover, it underlies a significant portion of modern synthetic chemistry and is integral to a molecular view of biological chemistry. Reviews in Reactive Intermediate Chemistry presents an up to date authoritative guide to this fundamental topic. Although it follows Reactive Intermediate Chemistry by the same authors, it serves as a free standing resource for the entire chemical and biochemical community. The book includes Relevant practical applications. Coverage of such topics as mass spectrometry methods, reactive intermediates in interstellar medium, quantum mechanical tunnelling, solvent effects, reactive intermediates in biochemical processes and excited state surfaces. Discussions of emerging areas, particularly those involving dynamics and theories. Concluding sections identifying key directions for future research are provided at the end of each chapter.

B. F. G. Johnson, 1976. Annotation Specialist Periodical Reports provide systematic and detailed review coverage of progress in the major areas of chemical research. Written by experts in their specialist fields, the series creates a unique service for the active research chemist, supplying regular critical in depth accounts of progress in particular areas of chemistry. For over 80 years the Royal Society of Chemistry and its predecessor the Chemical Society have been publishing reports charting developments in chemistry which originally took the form of Annual Reports. However, by 1967 the whole spectrum of chemistry could no longer be contained within one volume and the series Specialist Periodical Reports was born. The Annual Reports themselves still existed but were divided into two and subsequently three volumes covering Inorganic, Organic and Physical Chemistry. For more general coverage of the highlights in chemistry, they remain a must. Since that time the SPR series has altered according to the fluctuating degree of activity in various fields of chemistry. Some titles have remained unchanged while others have altered their emphasis along with their titles, some have been combined under a new name, whereas others have had to be discontinued. The current list of Specialist Periodical Reports can be seen on the inside flap of this volume.

Biographies of more than 100 Irish scientists or those with strong Irish connections in the disciplines of Chemistry and Physics including Astronomy, Mathematics etc, describing them in their Irish and international scientific, social, educational and political context. Written in an attractive informal style for the hypothetical educated layman who does not need to have studied science. Well received in Irish and international reviews. The Boston material supported by over 4000 references to the original literature and to recent reviews that provide more detailed information. The material is accompanied by over 250 figures and three dimensional representations based on published structural details. Each chapter has worked examples and problems with multiple inserts describing topical issues related to the material in the text. The textbook provides the instructor with a wide range of areas that can be selected to meet the background and interests of the students while selected chapters are relevant to courses on more specialized topics such as inorganic materials, bioinorganic chemistry and nanomaterials. The intended readers are students, lecturers and researchers who need a source for the current status of the area.
