

- The technique was in ancient times mostly used for jewellery and small fittings for clothes, weapons or similar small objects.
- Geeks themselves think that the term is used for "reclaiming the geek identity as something not only meaningful, but also stylish." - for this usage, more than just glasses are needed, and so the term has a wider meaning, being applied to home fittings and objects as well as clothes.

Fitting Sentences Fitting Sentences:

Fitting Sentences Jason William Haslam, Jason Haslam, 2005-01-01 Fitting Sentences is an analysis of writings by prisoners from the nineteenth and twentieth centuries in North America South Africa and Europe Jason Haslam examines the ways in which these writers reconfigure subjectivity and its relation to social power structures especially the prison structure itself while also detailing the relationship between prison and slave narratives Specifically Haslam reads texts by Henry David Thoreau Harriet Jacobs Oscar Wilde Martin Luther King Jr Constance Lytton and Breyten Breytenbach to find the commonalities and divergences in their stories While the relationship between prison and subjectivity has been mapped by Michel Foucault and defined as a strategic distribution of elements that act to exercise a power of normalization Haslam demonstrates some of the complex connections and dissonances between these elements and the resistances to them Each work shows how carceral practices can be used to attack a variety of identifications be they sexual racial economic or any of a variety of social categories By analysing the works of specific prison writers but not being limited to a single locale or narrow time span Fitting Sentences offers a significant historical and global overview of a unique genre in literature

Bilingual Sentence Processing Roberto Heredia, J. Altarriba, 2002-07-25 Bilingual Sentence Processing Sentence Processing: A Crosslinguistic Perspective Dieter Hillert, 1998-07-13 The innovative element of this volume is its overview of the fundamental psycholinguistic topics involved in sentence processing While most psycholinguistic studies focus on a single language and induce a general model of universal sentence processing this volume proposes a cross linguistic approach It contains two distinct features first embraced in the 18th century by brothers Freiherr Wilhelm von Humboldt and Alexander von Humboldt First it offers a linguistic theory that characterizes universal cognitive features of the human language processor or the mind and its biological source independent of a single language structure Second it contains a language theory which considers the diversity of linguistic structures and provides a powerful theory of language processing Contributors cover a wide range of topics including word recognition fixed expressions grammatical constraints empty categories and parsing Their research involves analyses of 12 languages This book provides an overview of central psycholinguistic topics in sentence processing and combines deductive and inductive methods in fashioning an innovative approach The contributors address word recognition fixed expressions grammatical constraints empty categories and parsing Its original papers form a coherent presentation

The Construction of Mental Representations During Reading

Herre van Oostendorp, Susan R. Goldman, 1998-11-01 This volume presents in depth investigations of the processes of meaning making during reading at both local discourse and global general knowledge levels It considerably extends our knowledge of how mental representations are constructed and updated during reading The book also provides insight into the process of representation construction by using online measures and relating this process with final memory representations provides detailed models of these processes pays attention to the coordination of multiple representations constructed focuses on the monitoring and updating of mental representations and applies all this knowledge to richer and more complicated texts than are often used in laboratories

The Domestication of Human Trafficking Katrin Roots,2022-11-01 Human trafficking has emerged as one of the top international and domestic policy concerns and is well covered and often sensationalized by the media The nature of the topic combined with various international pressures has resulted in an array of government led mandates to combat the issue The Domestication of Human Trafficking examines Canada s criminal justice approaches to human trafficking with a particular focus on the ways in which the intersecting factors of race class gender and sexuality impact practice Using a wide range of qualitative and empirically grounded research methods including extensive analysis of court documents trial transcripts and interviews with criminal justice actors this book contributes to much needed research that examines specifies and sometimes complicates the narratives of how trafficking works as a criminal offence The Domestication of Human Trafficking turns our attention to the ways in which the offence of human trafficking is made on the front lines of criminal justice efforts in Canada

Guidelines to Mathematics, K-8 Wisconsin Department of Public Instruction,1981 A Society Fit for Human Beings Elie Maynard Adams,1997-10-31 Argues for a humanistic cultural reformation to counter our materialistic values and science dominated intellectual life and shows how this would affect our lives and transform our society A Society Fit for Human Beings contends that there is a profound incoherence in the foundations of modern Western civilization and that we are on a self destructive course With the quest for wealth and power our dominant concern we find ourselves with a flourishing economy and a supreme military force based on science and technology but with our moral civic and religious culture undermined by our way of comprehending the world Our human identity is problematic the wells of meaning that nourish the human spirit are polluted or drying up and the social order is in disarray This situation E M Adams argues requires nothing less than a historic cultural revolution based on a shift in priorities from wealth and power to humanistic values those grounded in selfhood and lived experience that are essential for human growth meaningful lives and a healthy society Such a shift in our governing values would require a restructuring of our intellectual vision of humankind and the world in terms of humanistic categories This book shows the import of such a humanistic cultural revolution for our human identity morality the social order and our major institutions including the family and community education the economy the government the military and religion It outlines how we can work toward such a cultural revolution and develop a constructive postmodern civilization with a society fit for human beings
