First Marathons Gail Waesche Kislevitz, 2014-04-28 Inspiring reading The Wall Street Journal One of the scariest things about running a marathon for the first time isn't the distance the muscle pain the chafing or the blisters It's not knowing what's going to happen That's why this disarmingly honest collection of first time accounts is so refreshing Runner's World UK First Marathons is the collected stories of 37 runners told in their own words describing the experience of running their first marathon Everything is covered from the early flickerings of desire all the way to full blown obsession the training the food the emotions every mile of this incredible journey First Marathons is the best instruction book you will ever find because you learn from the heartfelt life experience of others Illumination and inspiration are on every page These runners are old and young fat and thin men and women Some are famous like Grete Waitz Ted Corbitt and Bill Rodgers and others are just ordinary people all of whom have achieved something truly extraordinary Their collective message anyone can run a marathon everyone should It will change your life forever

The Publishers Weekly, 1999 First Marathons Gail W. Kislevitz, 1999-07-01 Introduction by Gail Waesche Kislevitz If you have the passion you have the power I had already been pounding pavement for twenty four years when I made the decision to run my first marathon Growing up in the late sixties when women's sports was called cheerleading I had no formal training in running techniques I just ran pure and simple I ran for the joy of it the thrill of it the escape of it During college I played lacrosse because there wasn't a women's track team and it seemed like the next best thing to do But I still remained faithful to my daily run I ran through the bitter cold winters of Michigan during graduate school through two pregnancies and countless other miles that seem to blend into one long life's run I don't know when I made the transformation from running as a sport to running as part of my life I can't separate the two When I run my mind and body fuse together creating an energy source that empowers me It is my private time my therapy my religion Ultimately I had to test myself to see just how far I could go I wanted to train correctly so I bought running books filled with important information training routines nutrition guides stretching techniques injury prevention speed work pace and performance guidelines Everything I needed to know about the technical aspects of running a marathon except the most important thing to me its soul No book took on the task of describing the feeling the heart the core of a marathon What would it be like What would I feel out there Would I hit the mythical wall Could the last six miles be so difficult This was the information I craved I spoke with friends and strangers who had run marathons They answered my questions with such passion such fever and excitement for the event that I was mesmerized I inhaled their stories as they captured every moment of the race the lows of utter despair and pain the highs of inner strength They became my role models That was the beginning of this book I am going to let runners speak for themselves famous runners unknowns fast and slow old and young Through their experiences you will feel the pain and the glory of running the marathon Their lives h
