Gender Asset Accumulation And Just Cities Pathways To Transformation:

Gender, Asset Accumulation and Just Cities Caroline O.N. Moser, 2015-10-05 With more than half the world's population now living in urban areas urbanisation is undoubtedly one of the most important phenomena of the 21st century. However, despite increasing recognition of the critical relationship between economic and social development in cities, gender issues are often overlooked in understanding the complexities of current urbanisation processes. This book seeks to rectify this neglect. Gender Asset Accumulation and Just Cities explores the contribution that a focus on the gendered nature of asset accumulation brings to the goal of achieving just more equitable cities. To date, neither the academic debates nor the formulated policy and practice on just cities has included a focus on gender-based inequalities, discriminations or opportunities. From a gender perspective, a separate discourse exists closely associated with gender justice, particularly in relation to urban rights and democracy. Neither, however, has addressed the implications for women's accumulation of assets and associated empowerment for transformational pathways to just cities. In this book, contributors specifically focus on gender and just cities from a wide range of gendered perspectives that include households, housing, land, gender-based violence, transport, climate and disasters.

Cities, Slums and Gender in the Global South Sylvia Chant, Cathy McIlwaine, 2015-12-22 Developing regions are set to account for the vast majority of future urban growth and women and girls will become the majority inhabitants of these locations in the Global South. This is one of the first books to detail the challenges facing poorer segments of the female population who commonly reside in slums. It explores the variegated disadvantages of urban poverty and slum dwelling from a gender perspective. This book revolves around conceptualisation of the gender-urban-slum interface which explains key elements to understanding women's experiences in slum environments. It has a specific focus on the ways in which gender inequalities can be entrenched but also alleviated. Included is a review of the demographic factors which are increasingly making cities everywhere feminised spaces such as increased rural urban migration among women demographic ageing and rising proportions of female headed households in urban areas Discussions focus in particular on education paid and unpaid work access to land property and urban services violence intra urban mobility and political participation and representation This book will be of use to researchers and professionals concerned with gender and development urbanisation and rural urban migration

The Politics of Housing in (Post-)Colonial Africa Kirsten Rüther, Martina Barker-Ciganikova, Daniela Waldburger, Carl-Philipp Bodenstein, 2020-06-08 Housing matters no matter when or where This volume of collected essays on housing in colonial and postcolonial Africa seeks to elaborate the how and the why Housing is much more than a living everyday practice It unfolds in its disparate dimensions of time space and agency Context dependent it acquires diverse often ambivalent meanings Housing can be a promise an unfulfilled dream a tool of self and class assertion a negotiation process or a means to achieve other ends Our focus lies in analyzing housing in its multifacetedness be it a lens to offer insights into complex processes that shape societies be it a tool of empire to exercise control over private relations of inhabitants or be it a means to create good obedient and productive citizens Contributions to this volume range from the field of history to architecture and urban planning African Studies linguistics and literature The individual case studies home in on specific aspects and dimensions of housing and seek to bring them into dialogue with each other By doing so the volume aims to add to the vibrant academic debate on studying urban practices and their significance for current social change

Legal Empowerment in Informal Settlements Adrian Di Giovanni, Luciana Bercovich, 2025-06-30 This book investigates grassroots community led justice strategies known as legal empowerment being used to promote the human rights of people living in informal settlements in the Global South Residents of informal settlements also known as slums or favelas encounter a complex array of human rights violations from systemic discrimination by public officials to threats to physical security from forced evictions or arbitrary arrests to a lack of access to basic services such as housing water sanitation and education This book shows how grassroots justice organizations around the world are working with residents to defend their rights and secure more dignified living conditions Drawing on original empirical research across 10 countries in Africa Asia and Latin America the book demonstrates how legal empowerment can put residents at the centre of holistic approaches to urban development and confront exclusionary and undemocratic systems of governance The book encompasses practical recommendations and strategies such as rights based approaches to informality participation community mobilization and litigation Bridging the gaps between the law on the books and the harsh realities of informality on the ground this book will be an important read for researchers practitioners and policymakers working in realms of social and economic rights access to justice and urban poverty and development

Naturally Challenged: Contested Perceptions and Practices in Urban Green Spaces Nicola Dempsey, Julian Dobson, 2020-08-04 This book aims to understand how the wellbeing benefits of urban green space UGS are analysed and valued and why they are interpreted and translated into action or inaction into success and or failure The provision care and use of natural landscapes in urban settings e g parks woodland nature reserves riverbanks are under researched in academia and under resourced in practice Our growing knowledge of the benefits of natural urban spaces for wellbeing contrasts with asset management approaches in practice that view public green spaces as liabilities Why is there a mismatch between what we know about urban green space and what we do in practice What makes some UGS more successful than others And who decides on this measure of success and how is this constituted This book sets out to answer these and related questions by exploring a range of approaches to designing planning and managing different natural landscapes in urban settings A Feminist Urban Theory for Our Time Linda Peake,Elsa Koleth,Gokboru Sarp Tanyildiz,Rajyashree N. Reddy,darren patrick/dp,2021-07-30 What does a feminist urban theory look like for the twenty first century This book puts knowledges of feminist urban scholars feminist scholars of social reproduction and other urban theorists into conversation to propose an approach to the urban that recognises social reproduction both as foundational to urban transformations and as a methodological entry point for urban studies Offers an approach feminist urban theory that remains intentionally cautious of universal uses of social reproduction theory instead focusing analytical attention on historical contingency and social difference Eleven chapters that collectively address distinct elements of the contemporary crisis in social reproduction and the urban through the lenses of infrastructure and subjectivity formation as well as through feminist efforts to decolonize urban knowledge production Deepens understandings of how people shape and reshape the spatial forms of their everyday lives furthering understandings of the infinite variety of the urban Essential reading for academics researchers and scholars within urban studies human geography gender and sexuality studies and sociology Ending Gender-Based Violence Hannah E. Britton,2020-04-16 South African women s still increasing presence in local provincial and national institutions has inspired sweeping legislation aimed at advancing women s rights and opportunity Yet the country remains plagued by sexual assault rape and intimate partner violence Hannah E Britton examines the reasons gendered violence persists in relationship to social inequalities even after women assume political power Venturing into South African communities Britton invites service providers religious and traditional leaders police officers and medical professionals to address gender based violence in their own words Britton finds the recent turn toward carceral solutions with a focus on arrests and prosecutions fails to address the complexities of the problem and looks at how changing specific community dynamics can defuse interpersonal violence She also examines how place and space affect the implementation of policy and suggests practical ways policymakers can support street level workers Clear eyed and revealing Ending Gender Based Violence offers needed tools for breaking cycles of brutality and inequality around the world Gendered urban violence among Brazilians Cathy McIlwaine,Paul Heritage,Miriam Krenzinger Azambuja,Moniza Rizzini Ansari,Eliana Sousa Silva,Yara Evans,2024-06-25 This book aims to examine the nature of and resistance to gendered urban violence among Brazilian women in London and in the favelas of Mar Rio de Janeiro Drawing on the conceptualisation of translocational gendered urban violence framework it highlights the importance of examining direct forms of gender based violence across private public and transnational spheres as interlinked with structural symbolic and infrastructural violence The book also explores the embodied and spatialised nature of gendered urban violence explored through artistic engagements and arts based methods In developing a translocational feminist tracing methodological and epistemological approach across the social sciences and the arts the book argues for the importance of a collaborative approach among academic civil society organisations artists and creative researchers with a view to engendering empathetic transformation to address gendered urban violence in the long term

The Routledge Handbook of Latin American Development Julie Cupples, Marcela Palomino-Schalscha, Manuel Prieto, 2018-12-07 The Routledge Handbook of Latin American Development seeks to engage with comprehensive contemporary and critical theoretical debates on Latin American development The volume draws on contributions from across the humanities and social sciences and unlike earlier volumes of this kind explicitly highlights the disruptions to the field being brought by a range of anti capitalist decolonial feminist and ontological intellectual contributions The chapters consider in depth the harms and suffering caused by various oppressive forces as well as the creative and often revolutionary ways in which ordinary Latin Americans resist fight back and work to construct development defined broadly as the struggle for a better and more dignified life The book covers many key themes including development policy and practice neoliberalism and its aftermath the role played by social movements in cities and rural areas the politics of water oil and other environmental resources indigenous and Afro descendant rights and the struggles for gender equality With contributions from authors working in Latin America the US and Canada Europe and New Zealand at a range of universities and other organizations the handbook is an invaluable resource for students and teachers in development studies Latin American studies cultural studies human geography anthropology sociology political science and economics as well as for activists and development practitioners

The Routledge Handbook of Disaster Risk Reduction Including Climate Change Adaptation Ilan Kelman, Jessica Mercer, JC Gaillard, 2017-09-19 The Routledge Handbook of Disaster Risk Reduction Including Climate Change Adaptation

aims to provide an overview and critique of the current state of knowledge policy and practice encouraging engagement and reflection on bringing the two sectors together This long awaited and welcomed volume makes a compelling case that a common research agenda and a series of practical policies and policy recommendations can and should be put in place Over 40 contributions explore DRR including CCA in five parts The first part presents and interrogates much of the typical vocabulary seen in DRR including CCA not only pointing out the useful and not so useful dimensions but also providing alternatives and positive examples The second part explains how to move forward creating and supporting positive crossovers and connections while the third one explores some aspects of multi dimensional approaches to knowing and understanding The fourth part argues for a balanced approach to governance taking both governmental and non governmental governance as well as different scales of governance into consideration The final part of the Handbook emphasises DRR including CCA as an investment rather than a cost and connects its further implementation with livelihoods of people around the world This handbook highlights the connections amongst the processes of dealing with disasters and dealing with climate change It demonstrates how little climate change brings which is new and emphasises the strengths of placing climate change within wider contexts in order to draw on all our strengths while overcoming limitations with specialities It will prove to be a valuable guide for graduate and advanced undergraduate students academics policy makers and practitioners with an interest in disaster risk reduction and climate change

Evolutionary Economic Geography

Dieter Kogler, 2017-10-02 Economic geographers increasingly consider the significance of history in shaping the contemporary socio economic landscape and increasingly believe that experiences and competencies acquired over time by individuals and entities in particular localities to a large degree determine present configurations as well as future regional trajectories Attempts to trace understand and investigate the pathways from past to present have given rise to the thriving and exciting sub field of Evolutionary Economic Geography EEG EEG highlights the important factors that initiate inhibit or consolidate the contextual settings and relationships in which regions and their respective agents which comprise and shape economic activity and social reproduction change over time It has at its core the production and destruction of novelty in space and the links between innovation and regional economic fortunes The creation of knowledge its movement and recombination within different regional ensembles of economic agents and institutions plays a critical role in the evolution of the space economy EEG provides a framework to disentangle the complexity of technological change and regional economic development based on a variety of theoretical and methodological approaches In only a short time EEG has established itself as a promising and rapidly evolving research framework with its focus on the driving forces of regional development across various scales and its attempt to translate findings into public policy This book advances the theoretical foundations of EEG and demonstrates how EEG utilises and operationalises conceptual frameworks both established and new Contributions also point to future research avenues and extensions of EEG attempting to build stronger ties between theory empirical evidence and relevance to policy This book was originally published as a special issue of Regional Studies Men, Masculinities and Disaster Elaine Enarson, Bob Pease, 2016-06-17 In the examination of gender as a driving force in disasters too little attention has been paid to how women's or men's disaster experiences relate to the wider context of gender inequality or how gender just practice can help prevent disasters or address climate change at a structural level With a foreword from Kenneth Hewitt an afterword from Raewyn Connell and contributions from renowned international experts this book helps address the gap It explores disasters in diverse environmental hazard political and cultural contexts through original research and theoretical reflection building on the under utilized orientation of critical men's studies This body of thought not previously applied in disaster contexts explores how men gain maintain and use power to assert control over women Contributing authors examine the gender terrain of disasters through men's eyes considering how diverse forms of masculinities shape men's efforts to respond to and recover from disasters and other climate challenges The book highlights both the high costs paid by many men in disasters and the consequences of dominant masculinity practices for women and marginalized men It concludes by examining how disaster risk can be reduced through men's diverse efforts to challenge hierarchies around gender sexuality disability age and culture

Women, Urbanization and Sustainability Anita Lacey, 2017-03-28 This work considers the city as a gendered space and examines women's experiences and engagement in both urbanization and sustainability Such a focus offers distinctive insights into the question of what it means for a city to be sustainable asking further how sustainability needs to work with gender and the gendered lives of cities inhabitants Vitally it considers women's lives in cities and their work to forge more sustainable cities through a wide variety of means including governmental non governmental and local grassroots and individual efforts towards sustainable urban life The volume is transnational offering case studies from a wide range of city sites and sustainability efforts It explores crucial questions such as the gendered nature and women's experiences of current urbanization the gendered nature of urban sustainability thinking and programmes and local alternatives and resistances to dominant modes of addressing urbanization challenges

Cities and Economic Inequality in Latin America Lena Simet, 2022-04-19 This book examines trends and determinants of economic inequality in cities in Latin America the world's most unequal region It explores how the gap between the haves and the have nots manifests in every part of urban life from housing to schooling to employment It asks why some cities have higher inequality than others and what we can learn from these differences as we push back against inequality The book starts with reviewing the policies and forces that explain the rise and fall of inequality in Latin America since the 1990s and why progress in reducing inequality has stalled It then focuses on Argentina's cities and applies a set of quantitative tools to identify inequality determinants It finds that intra urban inequality generally mirrors national level trends but local idiosyncrasies related to a city's labor market informal employment and social protection systems matter The book discusses the pitfalls of privatizing public services that turned access to water in metropolitan Buenos Aires more unequal It explores the promises and unintended consequences of slum upgrading initiatives in Buenos Aires Villa 20 The book presents lessons that can inform policies and practices in the region and beyond Developing a strategy against inequality that incorporates local features and resists the temptation to rely on the free market for solutions to urban problems offers a powerful opportunity Drawing from the field of economics and social and urban policy this book shows that the battle against inequality is not only won and lost in cities but also requires a uniquely public and urban response As such it will be of interest to advanced students researchers and policymakers across development economics urban studies and Latin American studies Human Rights and Standard of Living in Sub-Saharan Africa Augustine Edobor Arimoro, 2025-02-18
