Seeing the Word (Studies in Theological Interpretation) Markus

Bockmuehl, 2006-09-01 At a time of deep disagreements about the nature and purpose of academic biblical studies Markus Bockmuehl advocates the recovery of a plural but common conversation on the subject of what the New Testament is about Seeing the Word begins with an assessment of current New Testament studies identifying both persistent challenges and some promising proposals Subsequent chapters explore two such proposals First ground for common conversation lies in taking seriously the readers and readings the text implies Second Bockmuehl explores the text's early effective history by a study of apostolic memory in the early church All serious students of the Bible and theology will find much of interest and much to discuss in this first volume in the Studies in Theological Interpretation series

From Page to Proclamation

Clare Schwantes, 2024-11-19 This pioneering work invites readers to embark on a transformative journey through the heart of liturgical worship and scriptural proclamation It introduces a new tier to biblical hermeneutics exploring the ways in which the liturgical event and the ecclesial community color the interpretation of Scripture Weaving together insights from Gadamer's philosophical hermeneutics with the rich tapestry of Catholic liturgy the author proposes that the meaning of a proclaimed Scripture passage emerges not from an analysis of the text itself but in the vibrant interplay of multiple horizons Bible Lectionary homilist and worshiper Through a lens of play and festival the intricate relationship between tradition and contemporary worship is explored showcasing how the sensory richness of the Catholic liturgy shapes the interpretation of Scripture It challenges readers to view the Lectionary as a living text intimately connected to the worshiping assembly and the modern world This thought provoking work offers both theoretical insights and practical implications for scholars clergy and worshipers alike It inspires a fresh perspective that resonates with the contemporary Catholic experience guiding worshipers toward a profound engagement with Scripture in the dynamic event of liturgical celebration
