Cataloging Classification Introduction Lois Chan:

Cataloging and Classification Lois Mai Chan, Athena Salaba, 2015-12-14 The fourth edition of the late Lois Mai Chan's classic Cataloging and Classification covers the analysis and representation of methods used in describing, organizing, and providing access to resources made available in or through libraries. Since the last edition published in 2007, there have been dramatic changes in cataloging systems from the Library of Congress. The most notable being the shift from AACR2 to Resource Description and Access (RDA) as the new standard developed by the Library of Congress. With the help of the coauthor Athena Salaba, this text is modified throughout to conform to the new standard. Retaining the overall outline of the previous edition, this text presents the essence of library cataloging and classification in terms of three basic functions: descriptive cataloging, subject access, and classification. Within this framework, all chapters have been rewritten to incorporate the changes that have occurred during the interval between the third and fourth editions. In each part, the historical development and underlying principles of the retrieval mechanism at issue are treated first because these are considered essential to an understanding of cataloging and classification. Discussion and examples of provisions in the standards and tools are then presented in order to illustrate the operations covered in each chapter. Divided into five parts: a general overview, record production and structure, encoding formats and metadata records, RDA subject access and controlled vocabularies, and the organization of library resources, each part of the book begins with a list of the standards and tools used in the preparation and processing of that part of the cataloging record, followed by suggested background readings selected to help the reader gain an overview of the subject to be presented. This book is the standard text for the teaching and understanding of cataloging and classification.

Cataloging and Classification Lois Mai Chan, Theodora Hodges, 2007 Cataloging and Classification Third Edition is a text for beginning students and a tool for practicing cataloging personnel. All chapters have been rewritten in this latest edition to incorporate recent developments, particularly the tremendous impact metadata and the Web have had on cataloging and classification.

Introduction to Cataloging and Classification Daniel N. Joudrey, Arlene G. Taylor, David P. Miller, 2015-09-29 A new edition of this best-selling textbook reintroduces the topic of library cataloging from a fresh, modern perspective. Not many books merit an eleventh edition, but this popular text does. Newly updated, Introduction to Cataloging and Classification provides an introduction to descriptive cataloging based on contemporary standards, explaining the basic tenets to readers without previous experience as well as to those who merely want a better understanding of the process as it exists today. The text opens with the foundations of cataloging, then moves to specific details and subject matter such as Functional Requirements for Bibliographic Records (FRBR), Functional Requirements for Authority Data (FRAD), the International Cataloging Principles (ICP), and RDA. Unlike other texts, the book doesn't presume a close familiarity with the MARC bibliographic or authorities formats, ALA's Anglo-American Cataloging Rules 2nd Edition revised (AACR2R), or the International Standard Bibliographic Description (ISBD). Subject access to library materials is covered in sufficient depth to make the reader comfortable with the principles and practices of subject cataloging and classification In addition the book introduces MARC BIBFRAME and other approaches used to communicate and display bibliographic data Discussions of formatting presentation and administrative issues complete the book questions useful for review and study appear at the end of each chapter Classification Made Simple Eric J Hunter, 2017-11-01 This title was first published in 2002 This is an attempt to simplify the initial study of classification as used for information retrieval The text adopts a gradual progression from very basic principles one which should enable the reader to gain a firm grasp of one idea before proceeding to the next Cataloging and Classification Gretchen L. Hoffman, Karen Snow, 2021-11-24 The cataloging and classification field is changing rapidly New concepts and models such as linked data identity management the IFLA Library Reference Model and the latest revision of Resource Description and Access RDA have the potential to change how libraries provide access to their collections To prepare library and information science LIS students to be successful cataloging practitioners in this changing landscape they need a solid understanding of fundamental cataloging concepts standards and practices their history where they stand currently and possibilities for the future The chapters in Cataloging and Classification Back to Basics are meant to complement textbooks and lectures so students can go deeper into specific topics New and well seasoned library practitioners will also benefit from reading these chapters as a way to refresh or fill gaps in their knowledge of cataloging and classification The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of the journal Cataloging Classification Quarterly Education and Training for Catalogers and Classifiers Ruth C. Carter, 1987 Education and Training for Catalogers and Classifiers discusses the education of librarians particularly the teaching of cataloging as part of that education It argues that relevant high quality library education and on the job training programs are necessary in preparing librarians to meet the challenges of understanding the issues of bibliographic control and relating a library's catalog to regional national and international bibliographic databases Manheimer's Cataloging and Classification, Revised and Expanded Jerry Saye, 1999-09-09 This work has been revised and updated to include the Anglo American Cataloguing Rules 2nd ed the Dewey Decimal System Classification 21st ed and the Library of Congress Classification Schedules The text details the essential elements of the International Standard Bibliographic Description introduces the associated OCLC MARC specifications and more The downloadable resources give more than 500 PowerPoint slides and graphics identical to the text in addition to scans of the title page and title page verso and other illustrations that support examples from Anglo American Cataloguing Rules 2nd ed Education for Cataloging and the Organization of Information Janet Swan Hill, 2014-04-23 What does the future hold for cataloging education Written by some of the best known authors and most innovative thinkers in the field including Michael Gorman Sheila S Intner and Jerry D Saye this comprehensive collection examines education for students and working librarians in cataloging and bibliographic control emphasizing history context the state of the art at present and suggested future directions A liberal dose of visual aidscharts tables etc makes accessing the information quick and easy From the editor The education of catalogers has swung pendulum like from on the job training to graduate education and back again The place of cataloging in the library school curriculum has swung from one of near pre eminence to one of near extinction and has begun to swing back again The durability of education for cataloging has swung from In getting your degree you will learn everything you need to know in your career to You will have to engage in continuing education throughout your career beginning virtually as soon as you have your degree Making informed decisions about how and how much cataloging education is to be provided is full of pitfalls some of which the profession has fallen into already What is needed now is a reconsideration of how education for cataloging and bibliographic control is provided Education for Cataloging and the Organization of Information Pitfalls and the Pendulum addresses four main areas the ways professionals perceive the place nature and necessity of cataloging education the professional demographic and academic context within which cataloging education is provided education regarding special types of materials and special aspects of cataloging and alternatives to traditional modes of education for cataloging including distance education online mentoring Web based instruction continuing education training for and via cooperative projects the role of the community of catalogers in the continuing education of those who provide intellectual access to the world of information and much more Cataloging Correctly for Kids Sheila S. Intner,Joanna F. Fountain,Jean
