The Reconstruction of Modality in

Chinese-English Government Press Conference Interpreting Xin Li, 2018-09-12 This book investigates a special genre of interpreting in the Chinese context namely Government Press Conference GPC Interpreting Drawing on the modality system from Systemic Functional Grammar and a corpus of 21 interpreting events the project explores the regular patterns of modality shifts in Chinese English GPC interpreting and seeks explanations in the sociocultural context As a corpus based project the book covers qualitative analysis of the sociocultural context qualitative analysis of the interpersonal effects of modality shifts and quantitative analysis of modality shifts This book will contribute to the understanding of the distinctive features of GPC interpreting in China shed new light on the rendition of modality between Chinese and English in specific contexts and also inspire new thoughts on the nature of interpreting in general Aspects of meaning-making through translation Sidiropoulou Maria, Hatzidaki Anna, Kefala Stavroula, Gogonas Nikos, Korda Diamantoula, Lavidas Nikolaos, Gioti Ioanna, 2025-05-07 The book addresses an audience with no prior knowledge of the intricacies of translation practice and allows a rather pervasive view into issues arising in the study of translation It shows how the study of translation may capture a reader's attention and what scholarly issues it may give rise to It tackles systemic functional cognitive and societal aspects of the transfer phenomenon between English and Greek from both a synchronic and a diachronic perspective It starts with pragmatic perspectives of meaning making moves to cognitive aspects of translation and interpreting goes on with aspects of tourism translation and globalization and ends up with diachronic perspectives to gender in translation and diachronic aspects of the history of translation in the West It is a collaborative work of the translation team of the Department of English Language and Literature National and Kapodistrian University of Athens and owes a lot to insights gained by the authors' interaction with undergraduate and postgraduate translation students of the Department which is always insightful and productive □□, 2003 Perspectives Studies in Translatology 2003 4 Interpreter Training in Context Jie Liu, 2020-10-07 This book addresses an important yet under researched domain in interpreting education how theoretical training models should be responsive to context To do so it applies the linguistic concept of context to interpreting studies by investigating practices in representative conference interpreting training programmes in Europe and China After presenting an overview of interpreter training programmes the author describes the need to reassess the applicability of the well established and widely accepted model of interpreting from the Paris School ESIT AIIC model to the Chinese interpreting training scene Building on the theoretical study of context in foreign language classrooms suggested by linguists like Halliday and Hasan 1993 Kramsch 1993 and others the author subsequently constructs a new curriculum comprising a four step approach to consecutive interpreting courses in the Chinese context The rationale for such an approach is justified in accordance with the overall design of context taking into account the four dimensions in a teaching learning environment This book is intended for scholars and graduate students who are interested in translation and interpreting applied linguistics as well as foreign language education It also serves as a practical guide for developing university level translation and interpreting programmes

Interpreting Technologies - Current and Future Trends Gloria Corpas

Pastor, Bart Defrancq, 2023-10-09 While interpreting long remained unaffected by the technological progress that transformed the translation industry recent years have witnessed a paradigm shift such that interpreters increasingly interact with technological tools that the delivery of interpreting services becomes increasingly dependent on technologies and finally that technologies start to emerge that might some day compete with interpreters This volume brings together a series of contributions on interpreting technologies focusing on each of these aspects Its goal is to inform and to empower interpreters as well as to spark new reflections on the future of technology in the interpreting industry With this volume we want to encourage interpreters to participate in that reflection and to become partners of technology rather than its victims The next generation of technologies will need a next generation of interpreters

Ethics and the Curriculum Mona

Baker, Carol Maier, 2014-07-04 First Published in 2011 This special issue of The Interpreter and Translator Trainer provides a forum for reflection on questions of ethics in the context of translator and interpreter education Covering a wide range of training contexts and types of translation and interpreting contributors call for a radically altered view of the relationship between ethics and the translating and interpreting profession a relationship in which ethical decisions can rarely if ever be made a priori but must be understood and taught as an integral and challenging element of one's work
