

Chapter: 15, The Chromosomal Basis of Inheritance

Key Message/Theme of Chapter:

The behavior of chromosomes and their linkage, sex-linked or X-linked, majorly affect inheritance and how each generation is impacted by genetic patterns.

Vocab:

1. Paternal Type- an offspring with a phenotype that matches one of the true breeding parental phenotypes.
2. Genetic recombination- terms for the production of offspring with combinations of traits that differ from those found in either parent.
3. Linkage map- a genetic map based on frequencies of recombination between markers during crossing over homologous chromosomes.
4. Crossing over- the reciprocal exchange of genetic material between nonsister chromatids during prophase I of meiosis.
5. Wild type- the phenotype most commonly observed in natural populations.

What was the most challenging material in the chapter? How would you explain it now?

I believe that Morgan's experiment was the most challenging material in this chapter. While Morgan was studying fruit flies, he noticed that the white-eye trait showed up more often in males than in females. Morgan crossed a red-eyed female with a white-eyed male, and all the resulting offspring had red eyes. The F1 generation was bred together, and the 3:1 ratio showed up, but the white eyes were only in the male flies. This result led Morgan to believe that the gene for eye color was on the X chromosome because male flies who inherited the allele for white eyes did not have anything to cover it up, whereas female flies had another X chromosome with a red-eye allele to cover it up. In order for a female to express this trait, she would have to have 2 copies of the allele. Morgan also discovered that in double wild type and double mutant flies (body color and wing size), the traits tended to be inherited together. In another experiment, Morgan discovered that these genes are linked, or located close together, so they have a low recombination frequency and tend to be inherited as a pair.
