Chrono Topologies Hybrid Spatialities And Multiple Temporalities Critical Studies:

Chrono-topologies ,2015-06-29 The twentieth century saw many revolutions Various transformations in the political economic social technological and artistic domains not only inaugurated new eras or at least discourses about new eras they also often entailed a radical reorientation in the very conceptions by which any revolution could be thought This beautifully edited collection of essays addresses itself to the particular revolution by which we came to understand the unity of space and time as ontological categories The twelve papers collected in this volume explore the consequences of conceptions of time and its relationship to space Although originating from the revolution in mathematics and theoretical physics these essays extend the thinking of space time in a multi disciplinary approach through the philosophy of space and time social geography post Marxian social theory new network theory the philosophy of art and culture musicology evolutionary biology historiography psychoanalytic theory and comparative literature The result is a fascinating snapshot of a nearly universal transformation but one that was only slowly realized as the debates in one field reverberated across a vast terrain of discourse and discipline In tracing the varied responses to the developments emanating from theoretical physics the essays in this volume reveal how discontinuous but profound shifts in knowledge and aesthetics ultimately converge on a radically transformed horizon Contributors are Peter Galison Richard T W Arthur Nader El Bizri Chunglin Kwa Leslie Kavanaugh Mary Lynne Ellis Patricia Locke Sander van Maas Raviv Ganchrow Josef Fr chtl M Christine Boyer and Antoine Picon

Constructions of Time and History in the Pre-Columbian Andes Edward Swenson,Andrew Roddick,2018-03-15
Constructions of Time and History in the Pre Columbian Andes explores archaeological approaches to temporalities social memory and constructions of history in the pre Columbian Andes The authors examine a range of indigenous temporal experiences and ideologies including astronomical cyclical generational eschatological and mythical time This nuanced interdisciplinary volume challenges outmoded anthropological theories while building on an emic perspective to gain greater understanding of pre Columbian Andean cultures Contributors to the volume rethink the dichotomy of past and present by understanding history as indigenous Andeans perceived it recognizing the past as a palpable and living presence We live in history not apart from it Within this framework time can be understood as a current rather than as distinct points moments periods or horizons The Andes offer a rich context by which to evaluate recent philosophical explorations of space and time Using the varied materializations and ritual emplacements of time in a diverse sampling of landscapes Constructions of Time and History in the Pre Columbian Andes serves as a critique of archaeology s continued and exclusive dependence on linear chronologies that obscure historically specific temporal practices and beliefs Contributors Tamara L Bray Zachary J Chase Mar a Jos Culquichic n Venegas Terence D Altroy Giles Spence Morrow Matthew Sayre Francisco Seoane Darryl Wilkinson

Infrastructures of Religion and Power Edward Swenson,2024-02-06 This book explores the central role of religion in place making and infrastructural projects in ancient polities It presents a trilectic approach to archaeological study of religious landscapes that combines Indigenous philosophies with the spatial and semiotic thinking of Lefebvre Peirce and proponents of assemblage theories Case studies from ancient Angkor and the Andes reveal how rituals of place making activated processes of territorialization and semiosis fundamental to the experience of political worlds that shaped power relations in past societies The perspectives developed in the book permit a reconstruction of how landscapes were variably conceived perceived and lived in the spirit of Henri Lefebvre and how these registers may have aligned or clashed In the end the examination of built environments infrastructures and rituals staged within specialized buildings demonstrates how archaeologists can better infer past ontologies cosmologies ideologies of time and place and historically specific political struggles The study will appeal to students and researchers interested in ritual infrastructures landscape archaeological theory political institutions semiotics human geography and the civilizations of the ancient Andes and Angkor

The Routledge Companion to the Sound of Space Emma-Kate Matthews, Jane Burry, Mark Burry, 2024-11-11 This companion explores a range of conceptual and practical relationships between sound and space across various disciplines providing insights from technical creative cultural political philosophical psychological and physiological perspectives The content spans a wide range of spatial typologies from large reverberant buildings to modest and intimate ones from external public squares to domestic interiors and from naturally formed environments to highly engineered spaces These compiled insights and observations explore the vast diversity of ways in which sonic and spatial realms interact This publication therefore forms important bridges between the intricate and diverse topics of technology philosophy composition performance and spatial design to contemplate the potential of sound and space as tools for creative expression and communication as well as for technical innovation It is hoped that by sharing these insights this book will inspire practitioners scholars and enthusiasts to incorporate new perspectives and methodologies into their own work Through a rich blend of theory practice and critical reflection this volume serves as a valuable resource for anyone interested in exploring the intricacy of relationships between space and sound whether they are students professionals or simply curious Our companion provides a cross section through shared territories between sonic and spatial disciplines from architecture engineering sound design music composition and performance urban design product design and much more Powerful Places in the Ancient Andes Justin Jennings, Edward R. Swenson, 2018-11-15 This book argues that a careful consideration of Andean conceptions of powerful places is critical not only to understanding Andean political and religious history but to rethinking sociological theories on landscapes more generally

Mapping in Architectural Discourse Marc Schoonderbeek, 2021-11-29 This book explores the notion of mapping in architectural discourse First locating positioning and theorizing mapping it then makes explicit the relationship between research and design in architecture through cartography and spatial analysis It proposes three distinct modalities tool operation and concept showing how these methods lead to discursive aspects of architectural work and highlighting mapping as an instrument in developing architectural form It emphasizes the importance of place and time as fundamental terms with which to understand the role of mapping An investigation into architectural discourse this book will appeal to academics and researchers within the discipline with a particular interest in theory history and cartography

Instabilities and Potentialities Chandler Ahrens, Aaron Sprecher, 2019-02-22 Now that information technologies are fully embedded into the design studio Instabilities and Potentialities explores our post digital culture to better understand its impact on theoretical discourse and design processes in architecture The role of digital technologies and its ever increasing infusion of information into the design process entails three main shifts in the way we approach architecture its movement from an abstracted mode of codification to the formation of its image the emergence of the informed object as a statistical model rather than a fixed entity and the increasing porosity of the architectural discipline to other fields of knowledge Instabilities and Potentialities aims to bridge theoretical and practical approaches in digital architecture

Obsession der Gegenwart Alexander C.T. Geppert, Till Kössler, 2015-10-28 Time is an obsession of the present yet current debates seem largely unaware of its historical formation throughout the twentieth century Given a century characterized by frequent ruptures and supersessions of competing temporal regimes it is remarkable that time has not played a more central role in its historicisation neither as analytical category nor thematic research subject The nine articles in this special issue set in Germany England Spain and Japan pursue both perspectives On the one hand they examine the conceptual role function and importance of time in and for the writing of history on the other they analyse changing regimes and the transformation of time practices empirically Criticising established standard narratives of a global standardization of time or its relentless acceleration this volume rather emphasizes the pluritemporality of the twentieth century and foregrounds the historical preconditions of our digitally driven present day simultaneities Thus it explores the possibilities of the historicisation of time as a fundamental category for thinking the twentieth century and offers a building block for a new time history
