National Council,1896 The Sacred Mirror Robert Elder,2016-03-02 Most histories of the American South describe the conflict between evangelical religion and honor culture as one of the defining features of southern life before the Civil War The story is usually told as a battle of clashing worldviews but in this book Robert Elder challenges this interpretation by illuminating just how deeply evangelicalism in Methodist Baptist and Presbyterian churches was interwoven with traditional southern culture arguing that evangelicals owed much of their success to their ability to appeal to people steeped in southern honor culture Previous accounts of the rise of evangelicalism in the South have told this tale as a tragedy in which evangelicals eventually adopted many of the central tenets of southern society in order to win souls and garner influence But through an examination of evangelical language and practices Elder shows that evangelicals always shared honor s most basic assumptions Making use of original sources such as diaries correspondence periodicals and church records Elder recasts the relationship between evangelicalism and secular honor in the South proving the two concepts are connected in much deeper ways than have ever been previously understood A Congregational Manual William Eleazar Barton,1910 Congregationalism; what it is; whence it is; how it works; why it is better than any other form of church government; and its consequent demands ...
