From Cancer Patient To Cancer Survivor Lost In Transition:

From Cancer Patient to Cancer Survivor National Research Council, Institute of Medicine, National Cancer Policy Board, Committee on Cancer Survivorship: Improving Care and Quality of Life, 2005-12-01 With the risk of more than one in three getting cancer during a lifetime each of us is likely to experience cancer or know someone who has survived cancer. Although some cancer survivors recover with a renewed sense of life and purpose what has often been ignored is the toll taken by cancer and its treatment on health functioning sense of security and well being. Long lasting effects of treatment may be apparent shortly after its completion or arise years later. The transition from active treatment to post treatment care is critical to long term health. From Cancer Patient to Cancer Survivor focuses on survivors of adult cancer during the phase of care that follows primary treatment. The book raises awareness of the medical functional and psychosocial consequences of cancer and its treatment. It defines quality health care for cancer survivors and identifies strategies to achieve it. The book also recommends improvements in the quality of life of cancer survivors through policies that ensure their access to psychosocial services fair employment practices and health insurance. This book will be of particular interest to cancer patients and their advocates health care providers and their leadership health insurers employers research sponsors and the public and their elected representatives.

From Cancer Patient to Cancer Survivor: Lost in Transition National Research Council, Institute of Medicine, 2006-04-27 This report of the proceedings of a symposium held in conjunction with the release of the IOM report From Cancer Patient to Cancer Survivor Lost in Transition represents an effort on the part of the American Society of Clinical Oncology ASCO the National Coalition for Cancer Survivorship NCCS and the Institute of Medicine IOM to further disseminate the findings and recommendations of the IOM report and to take the next step toward implementation of those recommendations. The symposium and this report serve as important vehicles to raise awareness fill gaps that have existed in cancer patients long term care and chart a course for quality care for cancer survivors and their families. More than 100 stakeholders in the cancer community including survivors advocates healthcare providers government officials insurers and payers and researchers participated in the symposium. This report culminates a series of work at the IOM focused on cancer survivorship. The idea to embark on a major study of cancer survivorship within the National Academies originated with the National Cancer Policy Board NCPB. The NCPB was established in 1997 in the IOM and the National Research Council's Division of Earth and Life Studies at the request of the National Cancer Institute NCI the National Institutes of Health and the President's Cancer Panel. The NCPB identified emerging policy issues in the nation's effort to combat cancer and prepared reports that address those issues including a series of reports on topics ranging from cancer prevention to end of life care.

From Cancer Patient to Cancer Survivor, 2006 Lost in Translation Rakesh K. Srivastava, 2014 This book is all about the definition and finding ways to prioritize and accelerate translation research in biomedical sciences and rapidly turning new knowledge into first in human studies. It represents an effort to bring together scientists active in various areas of translational research to share science and hopefully generate new ideas and potential collaborations. The book provides a comprehensive overview of translational work that includes significant discoveries and pioneering contributions e.g. in immunology, gene therapy, stem cells and population sciences. It may be used as an advanced textbook by graduate students and even ambitious undergraduates in biomedical sciences. It is also suitable for non-experts i.e. medical doctors who wish to have an overview of some of the fundamental models in translational research. Managing the translational enterprise remains a work in progress. The world is changing rapidly and the scientific world needs to seek new ways to ensure that discoveries get translated for patients efficiently and as quickly as possible. In addition, everyone expects the investment in biomedical research should pay dividends through effective therapeutic solutions. This unique project provides a broad collaborative approach of the international scientific team to present its view and opinion how to cross barriers to incentives for translational research in medical sciences. Contributing to the book is an international team of prominent co-authors. The book consists of unique and widely treated topics and includes new hypotheses, data and analyses.

Health Services for Cancer Survivors Michael Feuerstein, Patricia A. Ganz, 2011-06-15 Health has been conceptualized by world and national health organizations WHO CDC Healthy People 2010 as more than the absence of disease. It involves a focus on physical, psychosocial and functional aspects of life as well as the prevention of future illnesses. At this point in the development of quality health care for cancer survivors, there is sufficient knowledge and expert opinion to push efforts forward to improve the health of cancer survivors. Clearly, there is more research in the most prevalent forms of cancers e.g. breast cancer than others that provide us with guidance on how to optimize their health, but there are data on other forms of cancers that can also better inform practice. There may also be general care practices that can cut across cancer types. There has been an emergence of epidemiological and clinical research in cancer survivors that can form the basis for a revolution in the quality and nature of health care that survivors receive. This book not only provides the reader with diverse perspectives and data but also integrates this information so it can serve as the foundation necessary to improve and maintain the health of cancer survivors. Reporting of symptoms to health care providers is a complex, multi-determined problem influenced not only by the pathophysiology but also as we have learned over the years through pain research by societal cultural and biobehavioral factors This book will consider this important aspect of follow up for millions of cancer survivors because of the strong reliance on symptom reporting for clinical decision making In order for us to generate meaningful and effective treatment we need to better understand the symptom experience in cancer survivors This book provides much information that will assist us to better understand and manage this complicated end point The presenting problems need to be articulated and conceptualized as clearly as possible by both parties so appropriate actions can be taken Since health care costs are a major concern for patients payers and providers this area will also be addressed in all the relevant sections In taking an interdisciplinary perspective this book illustrates the importance of a team approach to the improvement of health care and associated health well being and functioning in cancer survivors The 17 chapters cover critical topics of which physicians and providers of all types must be aware in order to provide the most comprehensive and responsive care for cancer survivors All of the clinical care chapters include case studies to illustrate the real world application of these approaches in cancer survivors Information about sources of referral both within and outside the traditional health care communities will be provided in tabular form There is no other text that provides both an overview of the problems and their challenges case illustrations of direct application and the reality of reimbursement for such care The editors hope that there may be no need for the clinician or the survivor to adapt to a new normal if the presenting problems are understood and handled from an interdisciplinary perspective as outlined here

Implementing Cancer Survivorship Care Planning The National Cancer Institute, The Lance Armstrong Foundation, Institute of Medicine, 2007-01-14 One of the key recommendations of the joint IOM and NRC book From Cancer Patient to Cancer Survivor Lost in Transition is that patients completing their primary treatment for cancer be given a summary of their treatment and a comprehensive plan for follow up This book answers practical questions about how this Survivorship Care Plan including what exactly it should contain who will be responsible for creating and discussing it implementation strategies and anticipated barriers and challenges Accelerating Successes Against Cancer, 2006 After You Hear It's Cancer John Leifer, 2015-07-16 In 2014 an estimated 1 66 million people will receive a diagnosis of cancer They will join a pool of 13 7 million Americans already living with a history of cancer Almost 600 000 Americans will die from cancer For some cancer will be only a short divergence For others however it will be a dramatic fork in the road And for still others the beginning of the end of the line This book guides cancer patients along their journey where no one knows the duration or the destination Divided into the three parts of being a cancer patient the diagnosis initial treatment and on to survivorship the book will help the newly diagnosed cancer patient navigate a complex health care system make astute decisions at difficult junctures and manage the emotional turbulence that can rock his or her world Lastly it shares the story of how the author and his wife as well as other cancer patients have confronted their disease Advances in Cancer Survivorship Management Lewis E. Foxhall, Maria Alma Rodriguez, 2014-10-11 This volume presents the MD Anderson experience in providing care and services to the rapidly growing population of cancer survivors which is currently estimated to be 12 million in the United States and more than 25 million worldwide As cancer survival rates have increased it has slowly become clear that the challenges faced by people with cancer do not end with treatment but simply change This book aims to assist community oncologists physicians and their staff who care for the vast majority of cancer survivors by disseminating models of surveillance for disease recurrence screening for second primary cancers education regarding potential late effects of treatment and psychosocial counseling These models have proven valuable to cancer survivors who receive care at MD Anderson
