COST TERMS AND CLASSIFICATIONS

1.1 Introduction

---

1.2 Definition and Classification of Costs

Definition of Costs

The word 'cost' is usually used in our day to day conversation. It is a generic term that anyone needs to know. Cost is the amount of resource given up in exchange for some present and future benefits. The resource given up is always expressed in terms of money. Cost plays a significant role in managerial functions such as planning, controlling, decision-making, and directing operation activities. To guide decisions, managers want to know the cost of something. This 'something' may be a product, a service, a department, or any activity. We call this 'something' cost object and is defined as anything for which a separate measurement of cost is desired. Always activities consume resources and resources involve costs.

1.2.1 Classification of costs

Different cost concepts and classifications are used for different purposes. Understanding these concepts and classifications enables the cost accountant to provide appropriate costs data to the managers who need it. The purpose of the classification determines how the classification should be done. Cost data classified and recorded in a particular way for one purpose could be inappropriate for another use.

For example, classification of costs for purposes of determining inventory valuations and cost of goods sold for external reports differs from the classification of costs that would be carried out to aid decision-making.

It is important to note that the classifications of costs are not mutually exclusive. That is, a particular cost may be classified in many different ways—depending upon the purpose of the classification.

Cost accountants classify costs to meet the particular information need at hand. In practice, the following classifications are used extensively. More than one may be used in any given circumstance. You may encounter other classifications in practice.

Cost classifications are needed for the development of cost data that will help (aid) management in achieving its objectives.

These classifications are based on the following:

1. Relationship of the cost to the product.
2. The department where the cost is incurred.
3. The major Functional areas.
4. Relationship of the cost to the production process.
5. The period to which the cost is charged to income.
6. Relationship of the cost to volume of production.
7. The ability to be traced
8. Relationship of cost to planning, controlling, and decision making.

1. Relationship of the cost to the product

Based on the relation ship of costs to the product, costs can be classified as direct material, direct labor, and overhead costs. This classification provides management with information necessary for income measurement and product pricing. The elements of a product cost are: - Materials, Labor and Others facilities (called factory overhead costs)
