

ANCIENT ROME

A According to legend, Rome was founded on 21 April 753 BC by Romulus and Remus, who were twins born to Mars, the Roman god of war. A fight broke out between the two brothers regarding the exact location of the city of Rome, and Romulus ended up killing Remus. Romulus then completed building the city that was later named Rome after him.

B Apart from baths and aqueducts, ancient Romans also built roads, some of which still exist today. Roads in ancient Rome had multiple layers. The bottom layer, called pavimentum, was made of mortar. This was covered with a layer of stones and cement. A layer of concrete and slabs of stone was added to this. Finally, the upper layer of concrete and smooth pebbles was laid. This method of building roads is known as paving.

C Romulus was the first of the Seven Kings of Rome to rule the city. Around 509 BC, Tarquin, the last of the Seven Kings, was made to step down from the throne and the Roman Republic was established. Under this system, Rome was ruled by magistrates and other representatives who were elected by the people. The Republic of Rome dominated all of Western Europe. However, by 30 BC, Rome once again came under the rule of kings and became known as the Roman Empire. The Roman Empire was later divided into two parts – eastern and western.

D The ancient Roman civilization was the most powerful of all ancient civilizations. In the beginning Rome was a small city-state that was under the control of the Etruscans. It soon grew to become the largest empire in the ancient world. Ancient Rome was greatly influenced by the ancient Greek culture.

E Ancient Romans were brilliant architects and engineers who constructed magnificent buildings throughout the Empire. However, they are best known for their amazing public baths, roads, aqueducts and drainage systems. Baths were a very important part of life in ancient Rome. Both men and women visited the baths at least once a day. The water in the baths was channelled through aqueducts.

The Classical Weekly, 1928 Ancient Rome Monica M. Bontty, 2020-03-17 This book shares little known facts from and excerpts of primary source documents to correct popular misconceptions about Ancient Rome and to show how those misconceptions became widespread Roman personalities and history have always had a larger than life profile in American popular culture but most people think of this ancient civilization as merely decadent cruel and elitist Most of our stereotypical conceptions of the empire and its people however are wrong This book corrects popular misconceptions about the ancient Roman world thus making ancient history relevant and accessible to modern readers and allowing modern critics of American politics and society to draw accurate comparisons Each chapter discusses how a particular misconception developed spread and evolved into what we now believe to be the historical truth Topics discussed include crucifixion the destruction of Carthage Julius Caesar's last words and Roman hygiene Excerpts from primary source documents provide evidence of both the rise of the historical fictions and the truths behind the myths
