In a rapidly changing world there is an ever increasing need to monitor the Earth s resources and manage it sustainably for future generations Earth observation from satellites is critical to provide information required for informed and timely decision making in this regard Satellite based earth observation has advanced rapidly over the last 50 years and there is a plethora of satellite sensors imaging the Earth at finer spatial and spectral resolutions as well as high temporal resolutions
The amount of data available for any single location on the Earth is now at the petabyte scale An ever increasing capacity and computing power is needed to handle such large datasets The Google Earth Engine GEE is a cloud based computing platform that was established by Google to support such data processing This facility allows for the storage processing and analysis of spatial data using centralized high power computing resources allowing scientists researchers hobbyists and anyone else interested in such fields to mine this data and understand the changes occurring on the Earth s surface This book presents research that applies the Google Earth Engine in mining storing retrieving and processing spatial data for a variety of applications that include vegetation monitoring cropland mapping ecosystem assessment and gross primary productivity
