

DBQ 10: WHAT CAUSED SECESSION?Historical Context

No event affected the United States and its people more significantly than the secession of eleven Southern states and the Civil War that followed. Four years of bloody warfare, over one-half million deaths, untold misery and destruction, and long-lasting racial and sectional hatreds resulted. Even today, almost one and a half centuries later, America is still marked—politically, economically, and socially—by these awful events.

Americans who witnessed the secession of the Southern states, and historians ever since, have argued over the causes. Why, after eighty-five years of unity and common nationhood, did the United States break apart? Were the differences between North and South so great that unity was no longer possible? Or was secession an accident, the result of mistakes, political misjudgments, and passions that overwhelmed reasonable compromise? What parts did slavery, the debate over its expansion into the territories, and the rancorous conflict of its supporters and opponents play in bringing on secession? How much blame can be placed on President Buchanan's indecisiveness? Or on Lincoln's refusal to accept the Crittenden Compromise? And what about the Kansas conflict, Dred Scott, John Brown, and other divisive factors? What were the causes? Who was to blame?

■ Directions: The following question is based on the accompanying documents (1–7). As you analyze the documents, take into account both the source of each document and the author's point of view. Be sure to

1. Carefully read the document-based question. Consider what you already know about this topic. How would you answer the question if you had no documents to examine?
2. Now, read each document carefully, underlining key phrases and words that address the document-based question. You may also wish to use the margin to make brief notes. Answer the questions that follow each document.
3. Based on your own knowledge and on the information found in the documents, formulate a thesis that directly answers the question.
4. Organize supportive and relevant information into a brief outline.
5. Write a well-organized essay proving your thesis. The essay should be logically presented and should include information both from the documents and from your own knowledge outside of the documents.

Question: What led the Southern states to secede from the Union in 1860 and 1861?

The North & the South and Secession: An Examination of Cause and Right Adam S. Miller,2014-12-07 In this concise examination of cause and right Adam S Miller using the traditional Christian and biblical principles of authority using logic historical fact and the Constitution in an easy to read manner examines the causes and numerous questions concerning this pivotal conflict in U S history This is the first of a four part series on the conflict between the North and the South Author Adam Miller examines the cultural political and circumstantial causes of what is known as the Civil War He demonstrates that the idea of the sovereignty of the people does not justify the right of secession as most Southerners hold But a true principle in accord with God s revelation and Natural Law does justify the Southern cause This book explains what it is Using sound logic Mr Miller also addresses numerous questions such as Who actually began the aggression Who was constitutionally in the right Was the war really fought over slavery as most Americans think Was it a Civil War

Secession Winter Robert J. Cook,William L. Barney,Elizabeth R. Varon,2013-05 What prompted southern secession in the winter of 1860 61 and why did secession culminate in the American Civil War Politicians and opinion leaders on both sides of the Mason Dixon line struggled to formulate coherent responses to the secession of the deep South states The Confederate attack on Fort Sumter in mid April 1861 triggered civil war and the loss of four upper South states from the Union The essays by three senior historians in Secession Winter explore the robust debates that preceded these events For five months in the winter of 1860 1861 Americans did not know for certain that civil war was upon them Some hoped for a compromise others wanted a fight Many struggled to understand what was happening to their country Robert J Cook William L Barney and Elizabeth R Varon take approaches to this period that combine political economic and social cultural lines of analysis Rather than focus on whether civil war was inevitable they look at the political process of secession and find multiple internal divisions political parties whites and nonwhites elites and masses men and women Even individual northerners and southerners suffered inner conflicts The authors include the voices of Unionists and Whig party moderates who had much to lose and upcountry folk who owned no slaves and did not particularly like those who did Barney contends that white southerners were driven to secede by anxiety and guilt over slavery Varon takes a new look at Robert E Lee s decision to join the Confederacy Cook argues that both northern and southern politicians claimed the rightness of their cause by constructing selective narratives of historical grievances Secession Winter explores the fact of contingency and reminds readers and students that nothing was foreordained The War in America Taliaferro Preston Shaffner,1862

Apostles of Disunion Charles B. Dew,2001 In the inflammatory rhetoric of state appointed commissioners dispatched to preach the secessionist cause Charles Dew finds what he maintains are the true causes of the Civil War and its legacy of racism in contemporary America

Secession Debated William W. Freehling,Craig M. Simpson,1992-10-29 The critical northern antebellum debate matched the rhetorical skills of Abraham Lincoln and Stephen A Douglas in an historic argument over the future of slavery in a westward expanding America Two years later an equally historic oratorical showdown between secessionists and Unionists in Georgia generated as much popular interest south of the Mason Dixon line and perhaps had an even more profound immediate effect on the future of the United States With Abraham Lincoln s Black Republican triumph in the presidential election of 1860 came ardent secessionist sentiment in the South But Unionists were equally zealous and while South Carolina a bastion of Disunionism since 1832 seemed certain to secede the other fourteen slave states were far from decided In the deep South the road to disunion depended much on the actions of Georgia a veritable microcosm of the divided South and geographically in the middle of the Cotton South If Georgia went for the Union secessionist South Carolina could be isolated So in November of 1860 all the eyes of Dixie turned to tiny Milledgeville pre war capital of Georgia for a legislative confrontation that would help chart the course toward civil war In Secession Debated William W Freehling and Craig M Simpson have for the first time collected the seven surviving speeches and public letters of this greatest of southern debates over disunion providing today s reader with a unique window into a moment of American crisis Introducing the debate and debaters in compelling fashion the editors help bring to life a sleepy Southern town suddenly alive with importance as a divided legislature met to decide the fate of Georgia and by extension that of the nation We hear myriad voices among them the energetic and self righteous governor Joseph E Brown who while a slaveholder and secessionist was somewhat suspect as a native North Georgian Alexander H Stephens the eloquent Unionist whose calm dispassionate approach ultimately backfired and fiery secessionist Robert Toombs who impatient with Brown s indecisiveness and the caution of the Unionists shouted to legislators Give me the sword but if you do not place it in my hands before God I will take it The secessionists Henry Benning and Thomas R R Cobb as well as the Unionists Benjamin Hill and Herschel

Johnson also speak to us across the years most with eloquence all with the patriotic passionate conviction that defined an era In the end the legislature adopted a convention bill which decreed a popular vote on the issue in early January 1861 The election results were close mirroring the intense debate of two months before 51% of Georgians favored immediate secession a slim margin which the propaganda conscious Brown later inflated to 58% On January 19th the Georgia Convention sanctioned secession in a 166 130 vote and the imminent Confederacy had its Southern hinge Secession Debated is a colorful and gripping tale told in the words of the actual participants one which sheds new light on one of the great and hitherto neglected verbal showdowns in American history It is essential to a full understanding of the origins of the war between the states The Secession Crisis, 1860-1861 P.
