Writing-between-Worlds Ottmar Ette, 2016-02-22 This book proposes that there is no better no more complex way to access a community a society an era and its cultures than through literature For millennia literature from a wide variety of geocultural areas has gathered knowledge about life about survival and about living together without either falling into discursive or disciplinary specializations or functioning as a regulatory mechanism for cultural knowledge Literature is able to offer its readers knowledge through direct participation in the form of step by step intellectual and affective experiences Through this ability it can reach and affect audiences across great spatial and temporal distances Literature what different times and cultures have been able to understand as such in a broad sense has always been characterized by its transareal and transcultural origins and effects It is the product of many logics and it teaches us to think polylogically rather than monologically Literature is an experiment in living and living in a state of experimentation About the author Ottmar Ette has been Chair of Romance Literature at the University of Potsdam Germany since 1995 He is Honorary Member of the Modern Language Association of America MLA elected in 2014 member of the Berlin Brandenburg Academy of Sciences and Humanities elected in 2013 and regular member of the Academia Europaea since 2010 Brecht, Turkish Theater, and Turkish-German Literature Ela E. Gezen, 2018 Uncovers the central role of Brecht reception in Turkish theater and Turkish German literature examining interactions between Turkish and German writers texts and contexts Cultural Exchange in German Literature Eleoma Joshua, Robert Vilain, 2007 The influence of foreign cultures on German literature and other cultural productions since the 18th century The Edinburgh German Yearbook is devoted to German Studies in an international context It publishes original English and German language contributions on a wide range of topics from scholars around the world Each volume is based on a single broad theme the first includes papers from the highly successful conference Kennst du das Land Cultural Exchange in German Literature held in Edinburgh in December 2006 supplemented by additional essays The conviction that German culture and the German spirit are triumphantly unique has played a notorious role in Germany's history It is nonetheless acknowledged that German literature has been significantly influenced by non German sources and the search for what is unique about Germany and German literature must incorporate an awareness of these This volume provides a wide ranging investigation into how German literature from the 18th century to the present day reflects interactions between German and non German cultures Alongside theoretical and historical reflections on the nature of cultural exchange contributions explore literary reception the boundaries of and movement between cultures and Germany's literary political cultural and religious relations with both near neighbors and far flung cultural interlocutors Contributors Christian Moser Birgit Tautz Silvia Horsch Eleoma Joshua Gauti Kristmannsson Sabine Wilke Daniela Krümer Jon Hughes Thomas Martinec Margaret Litter Lyn Marven Dirk Göttsche Susanne Kord Eleoma Joshua is Lecturer in German at Edinburgh University Robert Vilain is Professor of German and Comparative Literature at Royal Holloway University of London The journal's General Editor is Sarah Colvin Professor of German at Edinburgh University

, Novels of Turkish German Settlement Tom Cheesman, 2007 Tom Cheesman focuses on Turkish German writers perspectives on cosmopolitan ideals and aspirations ranging from glib affirmation to cynical transgression and melancholy nihilism Die andere deutsche Literatur Manfred Durzak, Nilüfer Kuruyazıcı, Canan Şenöz Ayata, 2004 The Novel and Europe Andrew Hammond, 2016-10-05 This book examines the ways in which fiction has addressed the continent since the Second World War Drawing on novelists from Europe and elsewhere the volume analyzes the literary response to seven dominant concerns ideas of Europe conflict borders empire unification migration and marginalization offering a groundbreaking study of how modern and contemporary writers have participated in the European debate The sixteen essays view the chosen writers not as representatives of national literatures but as participants in transcontinental discussion that has occurred across borders cultures and languages In doing so the contributors raise questions about the forms of power operating across and radiating from Europe challenging both the institutionalized divisions of the Cold War and the triumphalist narrative of continental unity currently being written in Brussels German Women's Writing in the Twenty-first Century Hester Baer, Alexandra Merley Hill, 2015 Essays in this volume rethink conventional ways of conceptualizing female authorship and re-examine the formal aesthetic and thematic terms in which German women's literature has been conceived 'Heimat' Friederike Eigler, Jens Kugele, 2012-10-01 The concept of Heimat with its seemingly pre or anti modern connotations of rootedness in a place of origin is central to a critical understanding of German history and culture Over the course of the past fifteen years scholars across a range of disciplines have found new ways to examine the changing notions of Heimat its multifaceted cultural literary and visual history its gendered connotations and its national and ideological appropriations This anthology is the first to examine cultural manifestations of Heimat by giving special consideration to issues of memory and space The contributions to this volume challenge static notions of place often associated with Heimat Instead they explore the social and cultural production of places of belonging as they emerge in literary and visual narratives ranging from 1800 to 2000 and beyond Although the anthology includes historical perspectives on Heimat its overall objective is not to trace its cultural or literary history but to place this complex term into new conceptual contexts Drawing attention to manifestations of Heimat within German literary and cultural studies provides a rich ground for exploring the transformation of locality in trans national contexts Literature for Europe?, 2009-01-01 In Literature for Europe leading scholars from around Europe reflect on the role played by literature and by the study of literature in the constant re negotiation and re construction of cultural identities in Europe implied by the accession to the European Union in the early years of the twenty first century of fifteen new member states with the accession of a number of Balkan states impending and Turkey waiting in the wings while at the same time transatlantic relations of the EU to the USA are hotly debated in politics as in culture China and India awake as economic giants and globalization is upon us At the same time two of the earliest signatories to the treaties eventually leading to the European Union rejected a proposal for a European Constitution and linguistic religious and ethnic dividing lines show even in some of Europe s oldest nation states How do literary texts genres and forms thinking about them and teaching them respond to and shape ongoing processes of European self understanding in our era of globalization The volume seeks to answer these questions by charting key developments in a number of fields crucial to the emergence of a European common literary space literature and cultural value systems literature and cultural memory literary history translation the impact of the new media and the information age on matters of literature and identity and the impact of the postcolonial Literature for Europe is a thought provoking tour d horizon of cutting edge developments in the relationship between literary studies and the matter of Europe and suggesting an exciting agenda for literary studies in Europe It will be of interest to everyone working in European studies and or European literature The Turkish Turn in Contemporary German Literature L. Adelson, 2005-08-19 Challenging the commonplace that suspends migrants between two worlds this study turns a refreshingly curious eye to complex cultural relations and literary novelties wrought by Turkish migration to Germany At interpretive and historic crossroads involving dialogue and storytelling genocide and taboo and capital and labour in the 1990s This book illuminates far reaching imaginative effects that literatures of migration can engender In critical conversation with Arjun Appadurai Seyla Benhabib Homi Bhabha Rey Chow Andreas Huyssen Dominick LaCapra Doris Sommer and many others Adelson probes history and aesthetics as surprisingly twinned indices of national and global transformation at the millennial turn Questioning the Canon Christine Meyer, 2021-07-05 To what extent do minority writers feel represented by the literary canon of a nation and its body of great works To what extent do they adhere to or contest the supposedly universal values conveyed through those texts and how do they situate their own works within the national tradition Building on Edward W Said s contrapuntal readings and Gayatri Chakravorty Spivak s reflections on the voice of the subaltern this monograph examines the ways in which Rafik Schami Emine Sevgi zdamar and Feridun Zaimoglu have re read challenged and adapted the German canon Similar to other writers in postcolonial contexts their work on the canon entails an inquiry into history and a negotiation of their relation to the texts and representations that define the host nation Through close analyses of the works of these non native German authors the book investigates the intersection between politics ethics and aesthetics in their work focusing on the appropriation and re evaluation of cultural legacies in German language literature Opening up a rich critical dialogue with scholars of German Studies and Postcolonial Theory Christine Meyer provides a fresh perspective on German language minority literature since the reunification Watch our talk with the editor Christine Meyer here <https://youtu.be/bIO8q5QIU>
