Dialogic Methodology for Transdisciplinary Practice-Based Research E. Jayne White, Mahtab Janfada, 2025-01-17 Dialogic methodology is a specific approach to research that invites creative engagement with plural voices and their meanings in lived experience It draws from the writings of Russian philosopher Mikhail Bakhtin who established an agenda for the study of dialogue In Dialogic Methodology for Transdisciplinary Practice Based Research E Jayne White and Mahtab Janfada introduce the premises processes and practices of dialogic methodology as a legitimised approach to the transdisciplinary study of practice Drawing on a series of Bakhtin s original writings and dynamic interviews from dialogic scholars across the globe the authors advocate approaches to research that invite speculative inquiry and even question the original assertions that oriented the issue in the first place As White and Janfada set out an alternative pathway for scholars and students to contemplate the relevance of dialogism for their research they offer an expansive possibility for contemplating issues paradoxes or problems across diverse practice contexts They present their approach as an alternative methodological framework for research in educational contexts emphasizing the subjectivities that support and or thwart their effectiveness and purpose Hence this methodology seeks points of departure from traditional object subject based research on or about the other to interdisciplinary investigations that determinedly bring all parties into investigation and inquiry Synthesizing the latest research in the field and translating complex ideas into real life practice contexts this book walks readers through the ins and outs of dialogic methodology with a view of how to apply the approach to their own research and practice

The Emergence of Self in Educational Contexts Giuseppina Marsico, Luca Tateo, 2018-09-27 This book represents the first extensive introduction to the emerging construct of Educational Self The new concept describes a specific dimension of the Self which is elaborated in the course of a person s school life and is reactivated anytime the person is involved in an educational activity whether as a student teacher or parent The Educational Self ES approach was created by the volume editors and is currently being developed at various universities in Europe and Latin America as a way of understanding and operating in educational contexts The book presents the theoretical framework and the empirical developments of the construct paving the way for further applications in education The main locations of the empirical studies are Denmark Italy Brazil Portugal and Colombia but the research network is steadily expanding to other countries so that the concept here can be generalized to different cultural contexts. The book addresses a range of contexts and moments in school life. The editors' introduction presents the construct of ES, the opportunities for further theoretical and empirical developments of the concept and its potential applications in educational practices. In the remainder of the volume, ES is explored for different age groups from children to adolescents to higher education, different actors (peers, teachers, parents) and their interactions, different contexts (formal education, special institutions, school-family relationships) and different phenomena (disruptive behavior, special needs, value orientation, school failure, etc.). All the studies share a qualitative idiographic approach which is characteristic of the perspective of cultural psychology in which the ES construct was elaborated.

Engaging with Work in English Studies Alastair Henry, Åke Persson, 2021-06-25. This edited book focuses on practices of work in late modern society, taking an issue-based and interdisciplinary approach to English Studies which acknowledges the impact of globalization on the position of English in the daily existence of millions of people around the world. Envisioning English as a diverse yet unified subject where the study of literature, language and education can be pursued thematically, it constitutes part of an ongoing transformation and revitalization of English Studies. It will be of interest to readers with backgrounds in linguistics, literature and education as well as fields normally seen as lying beyond English Studies, such as psychology, sociology, philosophy, urban studies, political science and childhood studies.

Breathed into Wholeness Frohlich, Mary, 2019-12-19. This book explores the application of catholicity to our spiritual lives, that is how each of us strives to construct a life that bears both the integrity of ultimate wholeness and the dynamism of real life change, pluralism and differentiation.

Dialogue in Early South Asian Religions Brian Black, Laurie Patton, 2016-03-09. Dialogue between characters is an important feature of South Asian religious literature; entire narratives are often presented as a dialogue between two or more individuals or the narrative or discourse is presented as a series of embedded conversations from different times and places. Including some of the most established scholars of South Asian religious texts, this book examines the use of dialogue in early South Asian texts with an interdisciplinary approach that crosses traditional boundaries between religious traditions. The contributors shed new light on the cultural ideas and practices within religious traditions as well as presenting an understanding of a range of dynamics from hostile and competitive to engaged and collaborative. This book is the first to explore the literary dimensions of dialogue in South Asian religious sources, helping to reframe the study of other literary traditions around the world.

Interplays Between Dialogical Learning and Dialogical Self M. Beatrice Ligorio, Margarida César, 2013-04-01. Education is a main issue in all countries. Policy makers, educators, families, students and in a more general way, societies expect schools to provide a high quality education. They also expect students to be able to achieve and to become active and critical citizens. As senior researchers in education, we address some of the most complex and demanding research questions: How does learning affect identity? How does participation to educational settings, scenarios and situations impact the way we are or became? Can changes in how we perceive our Selves be considered as part of the learning process This book attempts to outline some answers to such broad questions using a very robust and updated theoretical frame the dialogical approach In these chapters very well known international authors from different continents and countries analyze school and educational situations through new lens by considering the teaching and learning processes as multi voiced and socially complex and considering identity development as a true leverage for development The focus on the dialogical nature of both learning and identities makes this book interesting not only for educators and educational researchers but also for anyone interested in human sciences policy makers students and their families We also aimed at producing a book that can be useful for different cultures and educational systems Thus in this book there are researches and comments from different cultural perspectives making it appealing for a very large target public

Integrating Experiences Brady Wagoner, Nandita Chaudhary, Pernille Hviid, 2015-04-01 Cultural Psychology studies how persons and social cultural worlds mutually constitute one another It is premised on the idea that culture is within us in every moment in which we live our human lives in the meaningful worlds we have created ourselves In this perspective encounters with others fundamentally transform the way we understand ourselves With the increase of globalization and multicultural exchanges cultural psychology becomes the psychological science for the 21st century No longer can we ignore questions about how our cultural traditions practices beliefs artifacts and other people constitute how we approach understand imagine and remember the world The Niels Bohr Professorship Lectures in Cultural Psychology series aims to highlight and develop new ideas that advance our understanding of these issues This second volume in the series features an address by Tania Zittoun and Alex Gillespie which is followed by commentary chapters and their response to them In their lecture Zittoun and Gillespie propose a model of the relation between mind and society specifically the way in which individuals develop and gain agency through society They theorise and demonstrate a two way interaction bodies moving through society accumulate differentiated experiences which become integrated at the level of mind enabling psychological movement between experiences which in turn mediates how people move through society The model is illustrated with a longitudinal analysis of diaries written by a woman leading up to and through the Second World War Commentators further elaborate on the issues of 1 context and history 2 experience time and movement and 3 methodologies for cultural psychology
