Fundamentals of Gifted Education Carolyn M. Callahan, Holly L. Hertberg-Davis, 2013 The field of gifted education is characterized by a confusing array of perspectives concerning such fundamental issues as definition philosophy curriculum social and emotional development and underserved populations The mission of this book is to provide a coherent framework that instructors and service providers can use in planning effective programs providing appropriate counseling services and evaluating programs for the gifted Most sections are organized around fundamental issues confronting the field and follow a common structure an introductory chapter that provides historical and theoretical background and organizing questions followed by several point of view chapters written by experts that provide varied perspectives on the topic at hand

Distinguishing Features Comprehensive Coverage The book's forty-five manageable length chapters cover the full range of topics that must be considered in planning programs and services for gifted students both within and outside of school.

Coherent Structure Section introductions provide background information and organizing questions to guide chapter authors who provide varying views of the issue at hand. The emphasis is not on the right way or the wrong way except when clearly documented bad practice is discussed but on how best practice stems from well-informed and logical decision making.

Decision Making Focus The book's introductory chapter addresses the need for a clearly developed and consistently applied set of values to guide decision making. Likewise, each section introduction includes a decision making framework regarding some aspect of educating, counseling, or parenting gifted students. This book is appropriate for introductory level courses in gifted education or courses in program development and planning. It is also suitable for school personnel responsible for making program planning decisions in the area of gifted education and for academic libraries with holdings in this area.

Using the National Gifted Education Standards for PreK-12 Professional Development Margie Kitano, 2008-03-27

This is a highly useable guide to align inservice training coursework with the new national standards. The latest thinking on high quality gifted education is invaluable. I can be sure that I am teaching what my teachers need.

Christine Nobbe, Gifted Education Specialist, Rockwood School District, MO

The great leveler for new and veteran teachers of gifted and talented learners begins with an understanding of the foundation for the field and current best practice. This guide helps professional development specialists bring their programs in line with the same national standards that are being used in teacher candidate preparation programs.

Cindy Sheets, Gifted Facilitator, Shawnee Mission School District, KS

Reshape the professional development of teachers in gifted education. The ten NAGC CEC and TAG knowledge and skills standards represent the best research-based practices in gifted education and identify what teachers of the gifted should know and be able to do. To ensure that students with gifts and talents realize their full potential, it is crucial that gifted education teachers receive ongoing professional development that reflects standards-based practices. This unique resource shows PreK-12 education leaders how to plan and implement inservice training programs or realign existing programs based on the newly approved gifted education standards.

Authored by the organizations that developed the standards, this volume features a wealth of helpful material for developing objectives, activities, and assessments of professional development, including four different observation instruments, a sample needs assessment survey, a sample individual professional development plan, a checklist for meeting the knowledge and skills standards, and a CD-ROM with an annotated bibliography of the research base used to develop the standards.

Staff developers will be able to:

- Determine professional development objectives based on standards.
- Understand and assess teacher needs.
- Design and evaluate the effectiveness of activities and onsite programs.
- Implement standards for addressing diversity.

Using the National Gifted Education Standards for PreK-12 Professional Development is an essential companion for staff developers and administrators faced with the challenge of giving classroom teachers the necessary training to provide exceptional instruction

International Handbook on Giftedness Larisa

Shavinina, 2009-08-12 This handbook presents a panoramic view of the field of giftedness. It offers a comprehensive and authoritative account on what giftedness is, how it is measured, how it is developed, and how it affects individuals, societies, and the world as a whole. It examines in detail recent advances in gifted education. The handbook also presents the latest advances in the fast-developing areas of giftedness research and practice, such as gifted education and policy implications. In addition, coverage provides fresh ideas from entrepreneurial giftedness to business talent, which will help galvanize and guide the study of giftedness for the next decade. Using the National Gifted Education Standards for University Teacher Preparation Programs Susan K. Johnsen, Joyce L. VanTassel-Baska, Ann Robinson, 2008-03-27 A breakthrough resource on gifted education course design. For universities seeking accreditation of their gifted education teacher preparation programs, the program must be aligned with NCATE approved standards. This guidebook helps university personnel design or revise gifted education programs to incorporate the ten new standards developed by NAGC CEC and TAG. In addition to the CD-ROM with an annotated bibliography of the research and literature on which the standards are based, professors and program coordinators will find techniques for aligning coursework, clinical practice, and field experience with standards. Sample syllabi. Information on teacher assessment. Details of the challenges associated with the new standards.

Giftedness and Talent in the 21st Century Don Ambrose, Robert J. Sternberg, 2016-07-15 When today's gifted and talented young people emerge into adulthood, will they be able to overcome some enormous 21st-century problems that are pushing us toward large-scale socioeconomic devastation? Will they be able to capitalize on unprecedented opportunities that can lead to widespread prosperity and fulfillment? This book explores these questions while yielding insights from many of the world's leading scholars of giftedness and talent development. Until now, there has been inadequate understanding of 21st-century trends and issues that influence the gifted and talented. The book provides some clarity by establishing a big-picture interdisciplinary overview of the socioeconomic, cultural, and technological pressures emerging from 21st-century globalization and describing some ways in which those pressures simultaneously suppress, distort, and invigorate the discovery of aspirations and the development of talents. Throughout the volume, prominent scholars of gifted education and talent development use their impressive knowledge bases to clarify how we can adjust our thoughts and actions in order to give ourselves the best possible chances for success in this complex world. This impressive volume, edited by two of the world's leading thinkers on these topics, includes the perspectives of many of our best thinkers on issues of talent development and giftedness, and they offer an array of provocative perspectives on how we can better address our culture's and our economy's tremendous need for talent in the 21st century. Jonathan Plucker, Julian C. Stanley, Endowed Professor of Talent Development, Johns Hopkins University. Turbulence in the subtitle is apt. The text Giftedness and Talent in the 21st Century is filled with strongly voiced perspectives from international authors who focus on how to conceptualize education as a creative and holistic enterprise within the context of globalization Ann Robinson Past President National Association for Gifted Children
