Euthanasia Euthanasia:

A Concise History of Euthanasia Ian Dowbiggin, 2007 In this first book to explore the history of euthanasia worldwide since classical antiquity distinguished historian Ian Dowbiggin exposes the many disturbing themes that link present and past in the concept of the right to die His deeply informed history traces the controversial record of mercy killing a source of heated debate among doctors and laypeople alike Dowbiggin examines evolving opinions about what constitutes a good death taking into account the societal and religious values placed on sin suffering resignation judgment penance and redemption He also examines the bitter struggle between those who advocate for the right to compassionate and effective end of life care and those who justify euthanasia by defining human life in terms of biological criteria utilitarian standards a faith in science humane medical treatment the principle of personal autonomy or individual human rights The author considers both the influence of technological and behavioral changes in the practice of medicine and the public's surprising lack of awareness of death's many clinical and biological dimensions Dowbiggin reminds us that the stakes in the struggle are enormously high with the lives of countless vulnerable people hanging in the balance His provocative historical perspective will be indispensable as patients families governments and the medical community debate when it is time to let go of life Bound to spark controversy this book takes issue with the right to die movement over the question of legalizing either assisted suicide or actual lethal injection mercy killing and raises profound personal and collective questions on the future of euthanasia

The Right to Die John E. Ferguson, 2007 Presents divergent views on euthanasia laws and legislation in the United States

Against Physician Assisted Suicide David Jeffrey, 2009 The majority of doctors and nurses involved in specialist palliative care reject the legalisation of physician assisted suicide PAS This book explores the reasons why the healthcare professionals who have the most experience of caring for dying patients should object to a change in the law Debate about euthanasia and PAS often arises in response to a well publicised tragic case of unrelieved suffering Such heart rending stories do not reflect the fact that the majority of people dying have a dignified death There is a marked disparity between medical intuitions and the philosophers arguments about euthanasia and PAS It seems that part of the moral constitution of a doctor is a commitment not to intend the death of a patient and to protect them from harm The perspective of those who are privileged to care for thousands of dying patients and their families should inform the debate about PAS This book will enable those who are not working within palliative care to gain an insight into the scope of this speciality and to understand why legalisation of PAS should be resisted to maintain and improve care of dying patients

Ethics in Medicine Jennifer Jackson, 2006 How in a secular world should we resolve ethically controversial and troubling issues relating to health care Should we as some argue make a clean sweep getting rid of the Hippocratic ethic such vestiges of it as remain Jennifer Jackson seeks to answer these significant questions establishing new foundations for a traditional and secular ethic which would not require a radical and problematic overhaul of the old These new foundations rest on familiar observations of human nature and human needs Jackson presents morality as a loose anatomy of constituent virtues that are related in different ways to how we fare in life and suggests that in order to address problems in medical ethics a virtues based approach is needed Throughout attention is paid to the role of philosophy in medical ethics and how it can be used to clarify key notions and distinctions that underlie current debates and controversial issues By reinstating such concepts as justice cardinal virtue and moral duty Jackson lays the groundwork for an ethics of health care that makes headway toward resolving seeming dilemmas in medical ethics today This penetrating and accessible book will be invaluable to students of sociology and health care as well as those who are interested in the ethical uncertainties faced by the medical world

The Patient's Wish to Die Christoph Rehmann-Sutter, Heike Gudat, Kathrin Ohnsorge, 2015-06-04 Wish to die statements are becoming a frequent phenomenon in terminally ill patients Those confronted by these statements need to understand the complexity of such wishes so they can respond competently and compassionately to the requests If misunderstood the statements can be taken at face value and the practitioner may not recognise that a patient is in fact experiencing ambivalent feelings at the end of life or they may misinterpret the expressed wish to die as a sign of clinical depression Public debate about the morality and ethics of various end of life care options has exploded in recent years However it has never been sensitive to the finer aspects of clinical reality or the experiences of patients The Patient's Wish to Die Research Ethics and Palliative Care brings together that reality and the patient's voice combining them with different research approaches It presents the best available knowledge and research methodologies about patients wishes at the end of life together with a series of ethical views and a discussion about the clinical implications for palliative care The book presents material in an open and unbiased manner whilst remaining sensitive to the spiritual and existential dimensions of dying and to the different cultural views that provide meaning to the individual Written by the best specialists and ethics scholars from around the world including palliative care practitioners and end of life scholars from countries where assisted dying practices are legalized and from those where it isn't The Patient's Wish to Die Research Ethics and Palliative Care will prove essential reading for all those working or studying in the field of palliative care
