Systemic Functional Linguistics and Translation Studies

Mira Kim, Jeremy Munday, Zhenhua Wang, Pin Wang, 2021-04-22 The field of translation studies has grown rapidly over recent decades with critical questions being investigated across the globe Drawing together this scattered research Systemic Functional Linguistics and Translation Studies consolidates important propositions by drawing on systemic functional linguistics SFL Using the SFL dimensions of stratification rank axis and delicacy to show how languages are more similar or more different this book provides a state of the art critical assessment of the interaction between SFL and translation studies Highlighting the major contribution SFL can make in developing translation theories a team of world leading experts investigate how intricate and wide ranging translation questions such as re instantiation and multimodality can be most efficiently explored through a detailed meaning and function oriented linguistic theory Examining the theoretical concepts and practical applications of SFL in the translation of a range of languages including Arabic Chinese and Brazilian Portuguese Systemic Functional Linguistics and Translation Studies provides a stimulus for new work spanning the two fields and suggests new directions for future research

Translation of Autobiography Susan XU Yun, 2017-11-15 This book presents an interdisciplinary study that straddles four academic fields namely autobiography stylistics narratology and translation studies It shows that foregrounding is manifested in the language of autobiography alerting readers to an authorial tone with certain ideological affiliations In refuting the presumed conflation between the author narrator and character in autobiography the study emphasizes readers role in constructing an implied author The issues of implied translator assumed translation and rewriting are explored through a comparative analysis of the English and Chinese autobiographies by Singapore s founding father Lee Kuan Yew

The analysis identifies different foregrounding practices and attributes these differences to an implied translator. Further evidence derived from narrative communicative situations in the two autobiographies underscores divergent personae of the implied authors. The study aims to establish a deeper understanding of how translation and rewriting have a far reaching impact on the self and world making functions of autobiography. This book will be of special interest to scholars and students of linguistics, literature, translation and political science.

Introducing Translation Studies Jeremy Munday, 2013-02-28 This is the definitive guide to the theories and concepts that make up the dynamic field of translation studies. Providing an accessible and fully up to date overview of key movements and theorists within an expanding area of study, this textbook has become a key source for generations of translation students on both professional and university courses. New features in this third edition include the latest research incorporated into each chapter, including linguistic precursors, models of discourse and text analysis, cultural studies and sociology, the history of translation and new technologies, a new chapter with guidelines on writing reflective translation commentaries and on preparing research projects and dissertations, more examples throughout the text, revised exercises and updated further reading lists throughout, a major new companion web site with video summaries of each chapter, multiple choice tests and broader research questions. This is a practical, user friendly textbook that gives a comprehensive insight into how translation studies has evolved and is still evolving. It is an invaluable resource for anyone studying this fascinating subject area.

Advances in Discourse Analysis of Translation and Interpreting Binhua Wang, Jeremy Munday, 2020-10-22 This edited thematic collection features latest developments of discourse analysis in translation and interpreting studies. It investigates the process of how cultural and ideological intervention is conducted in translation and interpreting using a wide array of discourse analysis and systemic functional linguistic approaches and drawing on empirical data from the Chinese context. The book is divided into four main sections: I uncovering positioning and ideology in interpreting and translation; II linking linguistic approach with socio cultural interpretation; III discourse analysis into news translation; and IV analysis of multimodal and intersemiotic discourse in translation. The different approaches to discourse analysis provide a much needed contribution to the field of translation and interpreting studies. This combination of discourse analysis and corpus analysis demonstrates the interconnectedness of these fields and offers a rich source of conceptual and methodological tools. This book will appeal to scholars and research students in translation and interpreting studies, cross linguistic discourse analysis and Chinese studies.

The Routledge Handbook of Translation Studies and Linguistics Kirsten Malmkjaer, 2017-12-14 The Routledge Handbook of Translation Studies and Linguistics explores the interrelationships between translation studies and linguistics in six sections of state of the art chapters written by leading specialists from around the world. The first part begins by addressing the relationships between translation studies and linguistics as major topics of study in themselves, before focusing in individual chapters on the relationships between translation on the one hand and semantics, semiotics and the sound system of language on the other.

Part II explores the nature of meaning and the ways in which meaning can be shared in text pairs that are related to each other as first written texts and their translations while Part III focuses on the relationships between translation and interpreting and the written and spoken word Part IV considers the users of language and situations involving more than one language and Part V addresses technological tools that can assist language users Finally Part VI presents chapters on the links between areas of applied linguistics and translation and interpreting With an introduction by the editor and an extensive bibliography this handbook is an indispensable resource for advanced students of translation studies interpreting studies and applied linguistics Language, Expressivity and Cognition Mikolaj Deckert, Piotr Pezik, Raffaele

Discourse Analysis in Translation Studies Jeremy Munday, Meifang Zhang, 2017-07-18 Discourse analytic approaches are central to translator training and translation analysis but have been somewhat overlooked in recent translation studies This volume sets out to rectify this marginalization It considers the evolution of the use of discourse analysis in translation studies presents current research from ten leading figures in the field and provides pointers for the future Topics range from close textual analysis of cohesion thematic structure and the interpersonal function to the effects of global English and the discourses of cyberspace The inherent link between discourse and the construction of power is evident in many contributions that analyse institutional power and the linguistic resources which mark translator interpreter positioning An array of scenarios and languages are covered including Arabic Chinese English German Korean and Spanish Originally published as a special issue of Target 27 3 2015

The Routledge Handbook of Translation and Methodology Federico Zanettin, Christopher Rundle, 2022-03-10 The Routledge Handbook of Translation and Methodology provides a comprehensive overview of methodologies in translation studies including both well established and more recent approaches The Handbook is organised into three sections the first of which covers methodological issues in the two main paradigms to have emerged from within translation studies namely skopos theory and descriptive translation studies The second section covers multidisciplinary perspectives in research methodology and considers their application in translation research The third section deals with practical and pragmatic methodological issues Each chapter provides a summary of relevant research a literature overview critical issues and topics recommendations for best practice and some suggestions for further reading Bringing together over 30 eminent international scholars from a wide range of disciplinary and geographical backgrounds this Handbook is essential reading for all students and scholars involved in translation methodology and research

The Psychology of Translation Séverine Hubscher-Davidson, Caroline Lehr, 2022-11-30 Drawing on work from scholars in both psychology and translation studies this collection offers new perspectives on what Holmes 1972 called translation psychology This interdisciplinary volume brings together contributions addressing translation from the vantage point of different applied branches of psychology including critical developmental psychology occupational psychology and forensic psychology Current theoretical and methodological practices in these areas have the potential to strengthen and diversify how translators decision making and problem solving behaviours are understood but many sub branches of psychology have lacked visibility so far in the translation studies literature The Psychology of Translation An Interdisciplinary

Approach therefore seeks to expand our understanding of translator behaviour by bringing to the fore new schools of thought and conceptualisations Some chapters report on empirical studies while others provide a review of research in a particular area of psychology of relevance to translation and translators Written by a range of leading figures and authorities in psychology and translation it offers unique contributions that can enrich translation process research and provide a means of encouraging further development in the area of translation psychology This book will be of interest to scholars working at the intersection of translation and psychology in such fields as translation studies affective science narrative psychology and work psychology amongst other areas It will be of particular interest to researchers and postgraduate students in translation studies

African Perspectives on Literary Translation Judith Inggs, Ella Wehrmeyer, 2021-03-03 This collection serves as a showcase for literary translation research with a focus on African perspectives highlighting theoretical and methodological developments in the discipline while shedding further light on the literary landscape in Africa The book offers a framework for understanding key approaches and topics in literary translation situated in the African context covering foundational concepts as well as new directions within the field The first half of the volume focuses on the translation product exploring such topics as translation strategies literary genres and self translation while the second half examines process and reception allowing for an in depth look at agency habitus and ethics Each chapter is structured to allow for the introduction of a given theoretical aspect of literary translation followed by a summary of a completed research project with an African focus showing theory in practice offering a model for readers to build their own literary translation research projects while also underscoring the range of perspectives and unique challenges to literary translation work in Africa This unique volume is a key resource for students and scholars in translation studies giving visibility to African perspectives on literary translation while pointing the way forward for future research directions

Interdisciplinarity in Translation and Interpreting Process Research Maureen Ehrensberger-Dow, Susanne Göpferich, Sharon O'Brien, 2015-06-15 First published as a special issue of Target issue 25 1 2013 this volume explores interdisciplinarity in translation and interpreting process research fields that have enjoyed a boom in the last decade For this reason the time was ripe for a reflection on the broad range of methodologies that have been applied in our endeavours to understand both translation and interpreting processes better The ten chapters provide a snapshot of how translation and interpreting process researchers have availed themselves of concepts and theories developed in other disciplines such as psychology the cognitive sciences journalism and literary studies to examine and illuminate their object of study This collection demonstrates that translation and interpreting process research borrow heavily from other disciplines and call for a consideration of how translation research can become truly interdisciplinary through increased collaboration synergy and mutual advancement

Theory of Mind in Translation Annegret Sturm, 2020-06-12 Taking the perspective of others is central to translation But does translation train this uniquely human capacity This book introduces the concept of Theory of Mind ToM to model one of the central features of translation

the meta representation of others and presents three innovative studies which investigate the question using brain scans eye tracking and key logging to shed new light on the role of non linguistic macro competences on the translation process

Journalistic Translation Sabir Hasan Rasul, 2019-05-08 This volume painstakingly formulates a composite model of translation procedures that covers both linguistic and cultural aspects inherent in translation The model is based on an integration of three classic taxonomies of translation procedures proposed by influential translation scholars namely Vinay and Darbelnet 1995 Newmark 1988 and Dickins Hervey and Higgins 2002 2016 The book combines these three taxonomies into an integrated model and extends it effectively to identify patterns of translation procedures and overall strategies in English Kurdish translation of journalistic texts The book is a breakthrough in the field of journalistic translation between the two languages With a clear definition and exemplification of each translation procedure the importance of the model is that it is replicable for future descriptive translation studies and can be carried out in other language pairs and on other genres Moreover the model is comprehensive in nature and covers almost all translational changes and shifts that may occur in the translation process Thus this model of translation procedures transcends previous frameworks in such a way that prospective translation researchers will not need to go back to these older models of translation procedures

A History of Modern Translation Knowledge Lieven D'hulst, Yves Gambier, 2018-06-28 A History of Modern Translation Knowledge is the first attempt to map the coming into being of modern thinking about translation It breaks with the well established tradition of viewing history through the reductive lens of schools theories turns or interdisciplinary exchanges It also challenges the artificial distinction between past and present and it sustains that the latter's historical roots go back far beyond the 1970s Translation Studies is but part of a broader set of discourses on translation we propose to label translation knowledge This book concentrates on seven processes that make up the history of modern translation knowledge generating mapping internationalising historicising analysing disseminating and applying knowledge All processes are covered by 58 domain experts and allocated over 55 chapters with cross references This book is indispensable reading for advanced Master and PhD students in Translation Studies who need background information on the history of their field with relevance for Europe the Americas and large parts of Asia It will also interest students and scholars working in cultural and social history
