

Evaluation Questions

Before you discuss these questions in your small groups, spend some time thinking through them, including jotting a few notes down.

1. Think back over the different examples of persuasion and propaganda that you have viewed, analyzed, etc. in BOTH classes. Can you think of any times when you feel that the propaganda or persuasive device did not seem fair or ethical? Explain.
2. Are there times when propaganda or persuasion can be used effectively and fairly? If so, what are some examples?
3. Do you think that people are aware of when they are being targeted with specific devices and/or propaganda? Explain why or why not.

Access in Health Telematics Constantine Stephanidis,2005-06-02 The Information Society is bringing about radical changes in the way people work and interact with each other and with information In contrast to previous information processing paradigms where the vast majority of computer mediated tasks were business oriented and executed by office workers using the personal computer in its various forms i e initially alphanumeric terminals and later on graphical user interfaces the Information Society signifies a growth not only in the range and scope of the tasks but also in the way in which they are carried out and experienced To address the resulting dimensions of diversity the notion of universal access is critically important Universal access implies the accessibility and usability of Information Society technologies by anyone anywhere anytime Universal access aims to enable equitable access and active participation of potentially all citizens in existing and emerging computer mediated human activities by developing universally accessible and usable products and services which are capable of accommodating individual user requirements in different contexts of use and independently of location target machine or run time environment In the context of the emerging Information Society universal access becomes predominantly an issue of design pointing to the compelling need for devising systematic and cost effective approaches to designing systems that accommodate the requirements of the widest possible range of end users Recent developments have emphasized the need to consolidate progress by means of establishing a common vocabulary and a code of design practice which addresses the specific challenges posed by universal access
