Transprofessional Diplomacy Costas M. Constantinou, Noé Cornago, Fiona McConnell, 2017-01-05 Diplomacy is no longer restricted to a single vocation nor implemented exclusively through interaction amongst official representatives In exploring the challenges that these transformations produce this work surveys firstly the genealogy of diplomacy as a profession tracing how it changed from a civic duty into a vocation requiring training and the acquisition of specific knowledge and skills Secondly using the lens of the sociology of professions the development of diplomacy as a distinctive profession is examined including its importance for the consolidation of the power of modern nation states Thirdly it examines how the landscape of professional diplomacy is being diversified and we argue enriched by a series of non state actors with their corresponding professionals transforming the phenomenology of contemporary diplomacy Rather than seeing this pluralization of diplomatic actors in negative terms as the deprofessionalization of diplomacy we frame these trends as transprofessionalization that is as a productive development that reflects the expanded diplomatic space and the intensified pace of global interconnections and networks and the new possibilities they unleash for practising diplomacy in different milieus

Visual Global Politics Roland Bleiker, 2018-02-13 We live in a visual age Images and visual artefacts shape international events and our understanding of them Photographs film and television influence how we view and approach phenomena as diverse as war diplomacy financial crises and election campaigns Other visual fields from art and you Cultural Encounters as Intervention Practices Lene Bull Christiansen, Lise Paulsen Galal, Kirsten Hvenegaard-Lassen, 2020-05-06 Setting up cultural encounters is a widespread intervention strategy employed to diffuse conflicts and manage difficulties related to diversity. These organised cultural encounters bring together people of different backgrounds in order to promote peaceful coexistence and inclusion. These transformative aims relate to the participants but are often also expected to spill over into the society, community or context addressed by the encounter. As a category, Organised Cultural Encounters draws together a variety of activities and events such as multicultural festivals, dialogue initiatives, diversity training and inclusion projects, activities that are generally not considered to be of the same kind. Most of the existing literature on these types of encounters is instrumental and has an overall emphasis on evaluations in terms of outcome or success rate. This book goes beyond evaluations and the contributors pose and debate theoretical and methodological questions and analyse the practices and performativities of particular encounters. Taken together, it makes an important contribution to the theorisation and analysis of intercultural relations and negotiations. This book was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Intercultural Studies.
