

Everything is Waiting for You

Your great mistake is to act the drama as if you were alone. As if life were a progressive and cunning crime with no witness to the tiny hidden transgressions. To feel abandoned is to deny the intimacy of your surroundings. Surely, even you, at times, have felt the grand array: the swelling presence, and the chorus, crowding out your solo voice You must note the way the soap dish enables you, or the window latch grants you freedom.
Alertness is the hidden discipline of familiarity.
The stairs are your mentor of things to come, the doors have always been there to frighten you and invite you, and the tiny speaker in the phone is your dream-ladder to divinity.

Put down the weight of your aloneness and ease into the conversation. The kettle is singing even as it pours you a drink, the cooking pots have left their arrogant aloofness and seen the good in you at last. All the birds and creatures of the world are unutterably themselves. Everything is waiting for you.

We Reap What We Sow Anne W. Nordholm PhD, 2013-07-02 As anyone who lives works or spends any time with teenagers knows adolescence can be both the best of times and the worst of times Teenagers are undergoing miraculous world altering shifts In light of these changes how can society help adolescents move safely from teen to adult How can adults and adolescents engage with each other in ways that are positive and mutually beneficial to one another's journeys In We Reap What We Sow author Dr Anne W Nordholm blends philosophical and educational approaches to demonstrate how you can cocreate an abundant future and help you guide a young person toward an engaging and meaningful adult life She first describes what it means to know ourselves and the difference that knowledge can make She then offers strategies that when modeled by adults adolescents absorb not from what we say but how we behave Every person must figure out a life that is individual is connected to a community and has a particular historical context This guide explores how we know and connect to our communities and how historical consciousness assists us in finding and creating meaningful work It also considers how we can be better guides to the next generation via skilled and disciplined communication and reconsiders the institutions we've established for adolescent learning to better reflect what we understand as effective adult maturation Through the strategies presented in We Reap What We Sow adults can help youth navigate adolescence to become healthy thriving human beings
