Social Justice, Multicultural Counseling, and Practice Heesoon Jun, 2010 This book takes a new approach to teaching students to think and learn about issues of race and diversity It aims to break down the traditional categorizations of racial ethnic groupings and focuses on teaching students to think and learn in a multidimensional manner rather than in a linear fashion The key to the book lies in its aim to teach students to practise culturally competent counselling by taking into consideration a client's multiple identities such as a middle aged African American woman who might be facing issues due to her racial grouping her age and her gender The book is filled with activities exercises and examples that help students think about racism in a non traditional manner rather than the typical ways often taught making it very timely and reflecting the transformation of thinking that is occurring in the field

The Practice of Collaborative Counseling and Psychotherapy David Pare, 2012-12-19 Many textbooks teach the practice of counselling to new learners by relying on basic ideas generated before the 1970s and grafting more recent developments onto this foundation as optional modalities David Pare avoids this trap He does not assume that the world has not changed or that innovative ideas that demand attention are not constantly being produced Neither does he dismiss the foundations of counselling laid a generation or two ago as irrelevant Instead he weaves into them new emphases drawn from the most creative practices of recent decades and makes them relevant to students learning the basics of practice Specifically ideas drawn from the turn to meaning are placed alongside well established traditions of counselling

Riding the Academic Freedom Train Jeanett Castellanos, Joseph L. White, Veronica Franco, 2023-07-03 Mentoring demonstrably increases the retention of undergraduate and graduate students and is moreover invaluable in shaping and nurturing academic careers With the increasing diversification of the student body and of faculty ranks there's a clear need for culturally responsive mentoring across these dimensions Recognizing the low priority that academia has generally given to extending the practice of mentoring let alone providing mentoring for Black indigenous and people of color BIPOC and first generation students this book offers a proven and holistic model of mentoring practice developed in the field of psychology that not only helps mentees navigate their studies and the academy but provides them with an understanding of the systemic and racist barriers they will encounter validates their cultural roots and contributions and attends to their personal development Further recognizing the demands that mentoring places on already busy faculty the model addresses ways of distributing the work inviting White and BIPOC faculty to participate developing mentees capacities to mentor those that follow them building a network of mentoring across generations and adopting group mentoring Intentionally planned and implemented the model becomes self perpetuating building an intergenerational cadre of mentors who can meet the growing and continuing needs of the BIPOC community Opening with a review of the salient research on effective mentoring and chapters that offer minority students views on what has worked for them as well as reflections by faculty mentors the core of the book describes the Freedom Train model developed by the godfather of Black psychology Dr Joseph White setting out the principles and processes that inform the Multiracial Multiethnic Multicultural M3 Mentoring Model that evolved from it and offers an example of group mentoring While addressed principally to faculty interested in undertaking mentoring and supporting minoritized students and faculty the book also addresses Deans and Chairs and how they can create Freedom Train communities and networks by changing the cultural climate of their institutions providing support and modifying faculty evaluations and rewards that will in turn contribute to student retention as well as creative and productive scholarship and research This is a timely and inspiring book for anyone in the academy concerned with the success of BIPOC students and invigorating their department s or school s scholarship     Principles of Multicultural Counseling and Therapy Uwe P. Gielen, Juris G. Draguns, Jefferson M. Fish, 2008-06-19 In an era of globalization characterized by widespread migration and cultural contacts psychologists counselors and other mental health professionals face a unique challenge how does one practice successfully when working with clients from so many different backgrounds Gielen Draguns and Fish argue that an understanding of the general principles of multicultural counseling is of great importance to all practitioners The lack of this knowledge can have several negative consequences during therapy including differences in expectations between counselor and client misdiagnosis of the client s concerns missed non verbal cues and the client feeling that she has been misunderstood This volume focuses on the general nature of cultural influences in counseling rather than on counseling specific ethnic groups Counseling practices from all over the world not just those of Western society are explored Bringing together the work of a diverse group of international experts the editors have compiled a volume that is not only concise and teachable but also an essential guidebook for all mental health professionals     Handbook of Group Counseling and Psychotherapy Janice L.
