The Local Government Manual and Directory, 1934 Maine Register; Or, State Year-book and Legislative Manual, 1987 Consumer Product Innovation and Sustainable Design Robin Roy, 2015-10-23 Consumer Product Innovation and Sustainable Design follows the innovation and evolution of consumer products from vacuum cleaners to mobile phones from their original inventions to the present day It discusses how environmental concerns and legislation have influenced their design and the profound effects these products have had on society and culture This book also uses the lessons from the successes and failures of examples of these consumer products to draw out practical guidelines for designers engineers marketers and managers on how to become more effective at product development innovation and designing for environmental sustainability The Vacuum Cleaner Carroll Gantz, 2012-09-26 House cleaning has been an innate human activity forever but only since the early 19th century have mechanical devices replaced the physical labor performed mostly by women Mechanical carpet sweepers were replaced by manual suction cleaners which in turn were replaced by electric vacuum cleaners in the early 20th century Innovative inventors who improved vacuum cleaners as electricity became commonly available made these advances possible Many early manufacturers failed but some such as Bissell Hoover Eureka and others became household names as they competed for global dominance with improved features performance and appearance This book describes the fascinating people who made this possible as well as the economic cultural and technological contexts of their times From obscure beginnings 200 years ago vacuum cleaners have become an integral part of modern household culture New Hampshire Register and Legislative Manual, 1982 Maine Register Or State Year-book and Legislative Manual from April 1 ... to April 1 ..., 1976 Moody's Industrial Manual, 1941

Part-Architecture Emma Cheadle, 2017-07-20 Part Architecture presents a detailed and original study of Pierre Chareau's Maison de Verre through another seminal modernist artwork Marcel Duchamp's Large Glass Aligning the two works materially historically and conceptually the book challenges the accepted architectural descriptions of the Maison de Verre makes original spatial and social accounts of its inhabitation in 1930s Paris and presents new architectural readings of the Large Glass Through a rich analysis which incorporates creative projects into history and theory research the book establishes new ways of writing about architecture Designed for politically progressive gynaecologist Dr Jean Dalsace and his avant garde wife Annie Dalsace the Maison de Verre combines a family home with a gynaecology clinic into a free plan layout Screened only by glass walls the presence of the clinic in the home suggests an untold dialogue on 1930s sexuality The text explores the Maison de Verre through another radical glass construction the Large Glass where Duchamp's complex depiction of unconsummated sexual relations across the glass planes reveals his resistance to the marital conventions of 1920s Paris This and other analyses of the Large Glass are used as a framework to examine the Maison de Verre as a register of the changing history of women's domestic and maternal choices reclaiming the building as a piece of female social architectural history The process used to uncover and write the accounts in the book is termed part architecture Derived from psychoanalytic theory part architecture fuses analytical descriptive and creative processes to produce a unique social and architectural critique Identifying three essential materials to the Large Glass the book has three main chapters Glass Dust and Air Combining theory text creative writing and drawing each traces the history and meaning of the material and its contribution to the spaces and sexuality of the Large Glass and the Maison de Verre As a whole the book contributes important and unique spatial readings to existing scholarship and expands definitions of architectural design and history

During the twentieth century affluence both at the level of the individual household and that of society as a whole became intimately linked with access to a range of prestige consumer durables The Market Makers charts the inter war origins of a process that would eventually transform these features of modern life from being luxuries to necessities for most British families Peter Scott examines how producers and retailers succeeded in creating mass though not universal market for new suites of furniture radios modern housing and some electrical and gas appliances while also exploring why some other goods such as refrigerators telephones and automobiles failed to reach the mass market in Britain before the 1950s Creating mass markets presented a formidable challenge for manufacturers and retailers Consumer durables required large markets Most involved significant research and development costs Some such as the telephone radio and car were dependent on complementary investments in infrastructure All required intensive marketing usually including expensive advertising in national newspapers and magazines while some also needed mass production methods and output volumes to make them affordable to a mass market This study charts the pioneering efforts of entrepreneurs many of whom though once household names are now largely forgotten to provide consumer durables at a price affordable to a mass market and to persuade a sometimes reluctant public to embrace the new products and the consumer credit that their purchase required In doing so Scott shows that contrary to much received wisdom there was a consumer durables revolution in inter war Britain at least for certain highly prioritised goods Sales Promotion Manual for Smaller Stores Leonard Mongeon,Marilyn K.
