Counter Currents Experiments In Sustainability In The Cape Town Region:

Counter-currents Edgar A. Pieterse, 2010 The City of Cape Town is heading for disaster and is already in deep crisis if one cares to look close enough The recent proliferation of public construction public squares and public housing along the N2 towards the airport is little more than a mirage compared with the direction of more underlying trends Cape Town's grim future is born out of the confluence of the globalised economic and ecological collapse that is fast becoming the defining feature of the twenty first century It is manifested most starkly in the dire situation that faces the majority of the city's residents who are excluded from the formal economy and must rely on substandard public services and their own makeshift shelters The scenario is serious enough to draw everyone's attention but should be set against the broader issues of long term economic resilience and environmental sustainability to achieve a low carbon society so we have our work cut out for us The purpose of this volume is to demystify these challenges and present readers with a creative portfolio of thinking practice and strong vision to show that we can find alternatives and moreover that these alternatives are already emerging in marginal sections of the state civil society and the business sectors Introduction Colonial Heritage and Urban

Transformation in the Global South Christian Ernssten, 2021-10-27 This book traces and analyses the role of heritage in the urban transformation of the city of Cape Town By looking at discourses of heritage and urban design the book shows how Cape Town positions itself as an emerging global city in the context of a series of global events The book points at how a heritage focus on the themes of post colonial and post apartheid reconciliation restitution and memory in the city shifts to a focus on creativity design and the arts Thereby showing how traumatic remnants of colonialism and apartheid are reframed as design challenges Furthermore it argues that the idea of a transformed society is projected into a future time and the chaotic present everyday life is left to its own devices Against this backdrop the book lays out the opportunities for epistemological reset and decolonial reflection on the city's deep histories its embedded injustices and traumas that surfaced

Cities and the Knowledge Economy Tim May, Beth Perry, 2017-11-02 Cities and the Knowledge Economy is an in depth interdisciplinary international and comparative examination of the relationship between knowledge and urban development in the contemporary era Through the lenses of promise politics and possibility it examines how the knowledge economy has arisen how different cities have sought to realise its potential how universities play a role in its realisation and overall what this reveals about the relationship between politics capitalism space place and knowledge in cities The book argues that the 21st century city has been predicated on particular circuits of knowledge that constitute expertise as residing in elite and professional epistemic communities In contrast alternative conceptions of the knowledge society are founded on assumptions which take analysis deliberation democracy and the role of the citizen and communities of practice seriously Drawing on a range of examples from cities around the world the book reflects on these possibilities and asks what roles the practice of active intermediation the university and a critical and engaged social scientific practice can all play in this process The book is aimed at researchers and students from different disciplines geography politics sociology business studies economics and planning with interests in contemporary urbanism and the role of knowledge in understanding development as well as urban policymakers politicians and practitioners who are concerned with the future of our cities and seek to create coalitions of different communities oriented towards more just and sustainable futures

Fynbos Nicky Allsopp, Jonathan F. Colville, G. Anthony Verboom, 2014-09-18 South Africa's fynbos region has intrigued biologists for centuries. It has achieved iconic status as a locus of megadiversity and therefore a place to study the ecological underpinnings of massive evolutionary radiations. Researchers have made great advances over the past two decades in unravelling the complexities of fynbos ecology and evolution and the region has contributed significant insights into the adaptive radiations of large lineages conservation science pollination biology invasive plant biology and palaeoanthropology. Lessons from the fynbos offer much of value for understanding the origin maintenance and conservation of diversity anywhere in the world. This book provides the first synthesis of the field for 20 years bringing together the latest ecological and evolutionary research on the South African global biodiversity hotspots of the Greater Cape Floristic Region the iconic fynbos and succulent karoo. It explores the historical and modern physical and biological environment of this region the circumstances and processes which have fostered its remarkable biodiversity and the role this diversity has played in the emergence of modern humans. It also discusses the challenges of contemporary management and conservation of the region's biodiversity in the face of accelerating global change.

Governing Megacities in Emerging Countries Dominique Lorrain, 2016-04-22 Megacities are a new phenomenon in history. The fact that many of them are in emerging countries deepens the challenges of governing these spaces. Can these vast complex entities rife with inequalities and divisions be governed effectively? For researchers the answer has often been no. The approach developed in this work focuses on the material city and its institutions and shows that without recourse to a big new theory urban leaders have devised mechanisms of ordinary government. They have done so through the resolution of practical and essential problems providing electricity drinking water sanitation transportation. Three findings emerge from this book. Infrastructure networks help to structure cities and function as mechanisms of cohesion. Megacities become more governable if there is a legitimate authority capable of making choices. Finally anarchic urbanisation has its roots in systems of land ownership in inadequate urban planning and in the practices of developers and local actors. In the originality of its hypotheses and the precision of the analyses carried out in the four case study cities of Shanghai Mumbai Cape Town and Santiago de Chile this work is addressed to all those interested in the life of cities politicians local and central government officials executives in urban companies researchers and students.

Neoliberalism on the Ground Kenny Cupers,Helena Mattsson,Catharina Gabrielsson,2020-02-25

Architecture and urbanism have contributed to one of the most sweeping transformations of our times Over the past four decades neoliberalism has been not only a dominant paradigm in politics but a process of bricks and mortar in everyday life Rather than to ask what a neoliberal architecture looks like or how architecture represents neoliberalism this volume examines the multivalent role of architecture and urbanism in geographically variable yet interconnected processes of neoliberal transformation across scales from China Turkey South Africa Argentina Mexico the United States Britain Sweden and Czechoslovakia Analyzing how buildings and urban projects in different regions since the 1960s have served in the implementation of concrete policies such as privatization fiscal reform deregulation state restructuring and the expansion of free trade contributors reveal neoliberalism as a process marked by historical contingency Neoliberalism on the Ground fundamentally reframes accepted narratives of both neoliberalism and postmodernism by demonstrating how architecture has articulated changing relationships between state society and economy since the 1960s

Reframing the Role of Public Open Space Miriam Bodino,2022-02-26 This book explores the growing spatial inequality in contemporary cities and the opportunity of reframing the role of public open space as a tool of inclusion in a context of an increasing economic gap between the urban poor and rich The first part outlines the geographical and theoretical frames of reference which are then tested in the analysis of a case study Cape Town This city in South Africa was selected since its spatial aspects of separation are particularly evident due to the legacy of both apartheid and modernism The examination of the policies of the City of Cape Town confirms the rising attention to public space since the 1990s This slow progress of desegregation is tested through a critical study of one of the most disadvantaged areas of the city Khayelitsha The book explores the relevance and impact of an urban design project and reframes the role of public open space not only as a tool for restructuring the apartheid city but also for reinterpreting other fragmented contemporary cities      Construction in 5D: Deconstruction, Digitalization, Disruption, Disaster, Development Theo C. Haupt, Mariam Akinlolu, Fredrick Simpeh, Christopher Amoah, Zakheeya Armoed, 2022-06-21 This book gathers the latest advances innovations and applications in built environment as presented by international researchers at the 15th Built Environment Conference held in Durban South Africa on September 27 28 2021 and organized by the Association of Schools of Construction of Southern Africa ASOCSA The overarching theme of the conference was Construction in 5D Deconstruction Digitalization Disruption Disaster Development with contributions focusing on current trends innovations opportunities and challenges policies and procedures legislation and regulations practices and case studies in both the public and private sectors The volume will contribute to the existing body of knowledge relative to the science and practice of construction not only in South Africa but wherever the products of construction are produced even in these new challenging times of fear and uncertainty      An Architecture of Care in South Africa Nicholas Coetzer, 2023-07-10 Architects care It is foundational and germane to the discipline and practice of architecture This book charts the way the Arts and Crafts Movement established the moral ethos of an architecture of care that not only remains embedded in current discourse and practice but also that is being given a more vocal presence in our climate crisis and social justice world By way of genealogical strands the book charts the origin of architecture of care ideas in the Arts and Crafts Movement and their impact on the other progeny architectural projects in South Africa over the past hundred years These range from the translation of inglenooks into an armature architecture of Dignified Places in Cape Town s townships to the ethos of upliftment and care that translates from Octavia Hill through to correcting building regulations and eventually finding a less moralising and more transformative impact in the Hostels to Homes project The birth of design through context and climate in the Arts and Crafts Movement is demonstrated by the shift in South African houses from boxy cottages to solar and nature oriented ribbon plans as demonstrated through the work of Helmut Stauch and Norman Eaton The dislocation of Arts and Crafts ideas to the Cape also demonstrated a limit to the valorising of vernacular architecture and its against globalization building materials whereby English architects promoted Cape Dutch settler architecture and denigrated African vernacular architecture As a final genealogical strand the book demonstrates the coherence of moral instrumentality with the animism and affects potential of handmade buildings Written for academics students and researchers interested in architectural history it is an eye opening investigation into the role of architecture in society

Doctor Edgar Pieterse,Susan Parnell,2014-01-09 The facts of Africa s rapid urbanisation are startling By 2030 African cities will have grown by more than 350 million people and over half the continent s population will be urban Yet in the minds of policy makers scholars and much of the general public Africa remains a quintessentially rural place This lack of awareness and robust analysis means it is difficult to make a policy case for a more overtly urban agenda As a result there is across the continent insufficient urgency directed to responding to the challenges and opportunities associated with the world s last major wave of urbanisation Drawing on the expertise of scholars and practitioners associated with the African Centre for Cities and utilising a diverse array of case studies Africa s Urban Revolution provides a comprehensive insight into the key issues demographic cultural political technical environmental and economic surrounding African urbanisation Cultures and Globalization Helmut K Anheier,Yudhishtir Raj Isar,2012-03-31 Today is a new metropolitan age and for the first time ever more people live in cities than they do anywhere else As cities strengthen their international and cultural influence the global world is acted out most articulately in the world s urban hubs through its diverse cultures broad networks and innovative styles of governance Looking at the city through its internal dynamics the book examines how governance and cultural policy play out in a national and international framework Making a truly global contribution to the literature the editors bring together a truly international and highly respected bevy of scholars In doing so they skilfully steer debates beyond the city as an economic powerhouse to cover issues that fully comprehend a city s cultural dynamics and its impact
